

Korean Scandal Figure Comes Out Of Hiding

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Tongsun Park, the key figure in the South Korean influence-buying scandal in Washington, came out of hiding today and said he would not let American authorities question him.

Declaring "I am a 100 per cent Korean," he told a news conference there is no need or any obligation for him to speak to any American investigators.

"If Leon Jaworski comes to Korea, it's his liberty, but I'm not going to see him," he added.

Jaworski, the former Watergate special prosecutor, is the new director of the investigation into the scandal by the ethics committee of the U.S. House of Representatives. The U.S. Justice Department also is investigating charges that Park was the South Korean government's chief payoff man in Washington.

The 42-year-old Korean businessman said American newspaper allegations that he gave funds and favors to members of Congress to get their support for the Korean government and to advance his own rice-buying operations were "irresponsible, merciless and inhumane."

He also said there was no justification for the seizure of his property in the United States by U.S. authorities in connection with allegations of tax evasion.

Park met Korean and foreign reporters at his office in downtown Seoul after being questioned earlier in the day by the Seoul prosecutor's office. It was his first news conference in 10 months, since the scandal in Washington broke last October and he moved to London.

Prosecutor Ahn Kyung-sang said he called Park in to determine if his alleged activities in Washington violated any Korean laws. He refused to say what he learned in the initial interrogation but said Park would be questioned again.

There was speculation that the government also suspected he might have violated foreign exchange regulations in his extensive business dealings abroad.

An informed source said Park would not be allowed to leave the country until he was cleared of suspicion. Park said he planned to leave as soon as his ailing mother recovered.

It could not be learned whether the questioning was requested by the U.S. government. Park cannot be returned to the United States against his will since South Korea does not have an extradition treaty with the United States. The Korean government has repeatedly denied that it had any connection with his activities in Washington.

Park arrived from London last Thursday traveling under an alias. He reportedly returned to see his 70-year-old mother, who was discharged from a hospital on Saturday after treatment for anemia and stomach trouble.

Ban On Pesticide Sought By Union, Consumer Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is under increasing pressure from union and consumer groups to impose strict controls on a pest-control substance suspected of causing sterility in men and cancer in animals.

But a major manufacturer of the substance, DBCP, says its own safety guidelines are adequate.

Two federal agencies are considering requests for new controls on the chemical, and a spokesman says one agency was considering stepping in before it was asked to do so.

Concern over the health effects of the compound, known as dibromochloropropane, was heightened this month by evidence of sterility in a dozen workers who handled the substance at Dow Chemical Co.'s Magnolia, Ark., plant.

Dow suspended production Aug. 11 after tests found the men produced little or no sperm.

In another case, 10 men who worked with the chemical at an Occidental Chemical Co. plant in Lathrop, Calif., were found to be either totally sterile or to have extremely low sperm counts.

In addition, a recent National Cancer Institute study linked the pesticide to cancer in rats and mice.

On Tuesday, the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union asked the Occupational Safety and Health Administration to issue emergency temporary DBCP standards.

The union is seeking orders limiting worker exposure to DBCP, special sterility tests for workers who used the substance and continued monitoring of exposure levels in work areas.

The second request for government action came from the Health Research Group. The organization, associated with consumer advocate Ralph Nader, petitioned the Environmental Protection Agency for an emergency suspension of registration for all pesticides containing DBCP.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Dow defended the safety levels it established for the substance, developed to control worms and other soil pests.

But the spokesman said workers who became sterile after handling the pesticide apparently were exposed to it within the company's safety levels. These limits were based on tests conducted more than 20 years ago showing DBCP could make animals sterile, Dow said.

An OSHA spokesman said the agency was considering an emergency standard for the pesticide even before the union filed its petition. OSHA issued a so-called notice and alert about DBCP on Aug. 16 in which it asked industry to take "appropriate action to protect employees" while the problem was being studied.

Alcoholism Committee Formed Here

The Pickaway County Steering Committee on Alcoholism is actively seeking the means of helping the alcoholic in the community, according to Roy McSherry, president of the group.

According to McSherry, the committee is trying to show the families of the alcoholic where they can get help and to provide professional counseling.

The committee is presently starting an ALATEEN group for the teenager in the alcoholic family. This group will meet 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Alcoholics Anonymous presently meets on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. and Fridays at 8:30 p.m. ALANON, an organization for the spouse of the alcoholic, meets 7:30 p.m. Friday. All these organizations meet at Trinity Lutheran Church. McSherry reports the Steering Committee on Alcoholism has the cooperation of Municipal Court Judge O. Charles Hosterman who has been referring people who have been in his court on alcohol related charges to the committee.

Ann Ramey is the alcohol coordinator for PICCA and her office has sent four alcoholics to the regional alcoholism center in Columbus, one to Talbot Hall in Columbus.

McSherry hopes to set up a seminar in the future with industry and is currently working on such a program with Du Pont. In the future the committee hopes to establish a halfway house here.

McSherry is a student at Circleville Bible College. A native of New Jersey, he was on the police force for eight years. He was a member of the police force during the Newark riots.

Budget Bill Becomes Law Without Governor's Signature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes, denied the flexibility of the line-item veto, allowed to become law without his signature Tuesday a controversial bill that specifies how the state's $14 billion budget will be distributed.

Rhodes said in a message to the legislature that the complex bill contains some changes in law that he favored but "contained some that I strongly oppose and it fails to address some very serious problems in state government that must be emphasized."

The governor's action signaled a victory for majority Democrats in the legislature who sought to deny him the option of line-item vetoing parts of the state budget.

Two years ago, Rhodes line-item vetoed 72 sections of the budget bill.

However, Democrats last spring split the budget in two; one bill included the $14 billion appropriation, and the second only language saying how it would be spent.

Since only money bills can be line-item vetoed, Rhodes would have had to reject the entire language bill and jeopardized distribution of school aid money had he chosen to block the measure, which includes a number of Democratic policy items.

Instead, he let 10 days pass without signing or vetoing it, thereby resulting in its enactment into law in 90 days.

"It is still my opinion that the inclusion of more than 13 single subjects in one bill is unconscionable and a deliberate attempt by the General Assembly to deprive the people of Ohio, through the governor, of the

Chinese Talks Begin

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance met today with Deputy Premier Teng Hsiao-ping and hoped to get down to the chief business of his trip to China, closer relations between the U.S. and Chinese governments.

The talks now "will be moving along at an accelerated rate," a U.S. spokesman said. But it was considered unlikely that the Chinese would moderate their demand, reiterated only last week by Chairman Hua Kuo-feng, that the United States cut all diplomatic and military ties with the Nationalist Chinese regime on Taiwan as the price for full diplomatic relations with the Communist government.

Carter Administration officials have promised not to abandon the Nationalists, who fled to the island after the Communist military victory on the mainland in 1949. But there has been speculation that the United States might offer to break formal diplomatic relations while maintaining economic relations and its guarantee to protect the Nationalists from invasion.

In view of Hua's speech, this did not seem to be enough of a concession to get the Chinese to agree to exchange ambassadors.

Teng, twice purged and twice restored to power, posed smilingly for photographers as he received Vance and lectured American correspondents accompanying the secretary. Now 73, his handshake was firm, his eyes clear and he appeared sprightly.

"I have read some of what you are writing," he told the journalists with a smile. "Some of it is accurate, some is not."

Offering Vance a cigarette, he commented: "Whoever smokes can help himself. Act in accordance with the Chairman's slogan, self-reliance. Use your own hands and clothe and feed yourself."

After that bow to the late Chairman Mao Tse-tung, he recalled the hardships of the Communists' life in the 1930s after the Long March to Yenan.

"We found it necessary at that time for us to be able to feed and clothe our own army as well as many patriots and young people who numbered some tens of thousands and had come from various parts of the country," Teng said.

He told of living in caves, raising pigs and scratching crops out of poor land.

The message seemed clear: China will overcome its economic problems through determination and hard work.

Before his meeting with Teng, Vance held his third 2½-hour session with Foreign Minister Huang Hua. State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Huang "made some points about normalization" of relations between Washington and Peking, but he refused to elaborate.

Huang was the highest-ranking Chinese official Vance saw prior to the meeting with Teng. Vance met Teng once before during a private visit to Peking in 1975.

There was still no indication whether Hua would receive Vance before the secretary leaves China on Thursday.

Vance, looking for a formula to better ties without casting Taiwan adrift, has been emphasizing the mutual interest of Peking and Washington in countering Soviet influence in such areas as Africa.

VFW Building Shelter Area For Youth Camping Trips

UNUSUAL TREE ON GROUNDS — Veterans of Foreign Wars member Dave Green points out a buckeye tree which has taken root and is growing out of the big tree to the right. Green repairs, mows and generally takes care of the VFW land off of Zane Trail Road. Local Post 3331 Commander Leslie F. Merrill, to the right, talks about the new structure in the background. He said the VFW plans to enclose the shelter house and equip it so young people in the county can use it next summer for camp outs.

Youngsters in organized groups will have a new facility in the county for camp outs next summer. The local Veterans of Foreign Wars post is building a large shelter house on their ten acres of ground on Zane Trail Road.

According to Post Commander Leslie F. Merrill, the VFW plans to arrange the facility to sleep about 30 people.

Construction plans include equipping the shelter house with a kitchen, dining area and restrooms. The enclosure measures 65 by 40 feet.

To raise money for the additional construction work, the local VFW Post 3331 is planning turkey shooting matches on the land weekly during October and November, Merrill said.

Presently, only the roof, support poles and cement floor have been built. Future plans include enclosing the structure, installing large screened windows with cloth flaps and equipping the interior.

Merrill said the purpose is to give groups of youngsters a camping area close to home. The 10 acres of land will be open to boy scouts, girl scouts, underprivileged children, or any other organized group.

Father Of Rape Victim Files Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The father of a 14-year-old girl who was raped and beaten to death has filed a $2 million suit on the second anniversary of her death against the man who police say confessed to the murder.

Norman Junior Mullins filed suit Monday in Franklin County Common Pleas Court seeking $500,000 in actual damages and $1.5 million in punitive damages from Jack Carmen, 27.

Carmen has been held in the Franklin County jail for nearly two years while lawyers argue his mental competence. He has not been tried in the death of Christie Mullins whose body was found Aug. 23, 1975 behind a north Columbus shopping center.

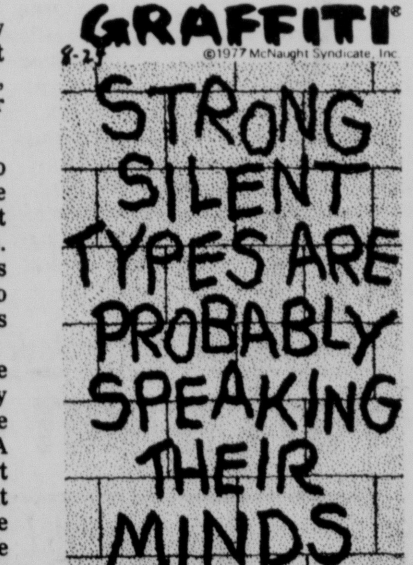

The suit also names "John Doe or John Does" Mullins said took part in the assault and killing. He charged that Carmen lied to protect these people.

There never has been evidence released by police that more than one person was involved.

Mullins said he hoped a jury trial in his suit would bring out the truth about what happened two years ago. "All we have seen is legal maneuvering," Mullins said. "I have prayed to God to give me a trial."

Carmen was declared incompetent in 1967 by the Probate Court of Lorain County and was committed to Apple Creek State Institute.

He later was released and was living at the Volunteers of America hotel at the time of his arrest.

The shelter house is surrounded by a large open space, with a creek running behind it. When the water level is up the creek is used for swimming or wading.

The land is well used by VFW members and guests, but Merrill hopes to expand its capabilities by opening it up for camping.

It is the group's projected plan to have most of the work completed by the summer of 1978 so the kids can be invited to use the facilities at that time.

Big Mouth Gets Jail Sentence For Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — JoAnn Cralley had her say in municipal court this week, but it cost her three days in jail.

Mrs. Cralley, 20, shouted "you're stupid" at Judge Joseph Clifford after he sentenced her husband to 10 days in the workhouse on a petty theft charge.

"Nobody calls me stupid, at least not to my face," said Clifford, sending her to the women's workhouse on a contempt of court charge.

As for her husband, Gary, 36, of Granite City, Ill., Clifford did not believe the man's tale that he "absent minded" walked out of a store at a shopping center with a coat.

Store officials said they caught Cralley walking out of the store late Sunday with the coat, minus the price tags.

tions through a new bill.

Rhodes said language giving state Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, a Democrat, authority to block independent audits and accounting services for state agencies was not needed and would put Ferguson in the role of management.

Secondly, Rhodes said a section giving the seven-member state Controlling Board the right to alter certain appropriations was unconstitutional. Rhodes said only action by the full legislature, not a seven-member panel, could affect appropriations.

His third major objection focuses on an attempt by the legislators to reconcile a year-old tax relief program with the equal yield school aid formula, which is based on local property tax effort.

"If the language of this section becomes effective, taxpayers in at least 38 school districts will pay higher real estate taxes without a vote in early 1978," he said.

"The increase will occur in those districts which have equalized millage rates of less than 20 mills (less than 2 per cent of taxable value)," he added. "The new section of the law will require that an effective 20 mills be raised in the school district by decreasing the amount of property tax rollback."

Rhodes' reference to the "rollback" was apparently meant to describe the credit granted to taxpayers after property is reappraised, to offset the impact of a higher valuation.

By lowering the millage rate through a credit, lawmakers found some school districts would lose equal yield money which is attracted by local tax effort.

To ease the burden on schools in such districts, they devised a formula limiting any rollback in the millage rate to 2 per cent. Districts which still fell below 20 mills would be given a period of time to get back up to that minimum rate for state school aid, before it was cut off.

"For many people, this section will repeal the real estate tax relief given property owners who suffered from reappraisal in recent years," Rhodes said.

"Before the end of the week, I will submit separate legislation to correct several provisions which I find unacceptable and which probably could not have been passed on their merits," he said.

right to assess the individual merits and to take action upon each of the separate and distinct subjects included," Rhodes said.

Although the budget-related measure prescribes how state school money will be channeled to local districts, the governor said it did not address the problem of school closings.

"Mandated increases in cost such as the minimum salary schedule and the pupil-teacher ratio should have been repealed by the General Assembly because they were not properly funded," he said.

Rhodes said there were three specific items he would have vetoed if he had the power to do so. Instead, "in the spirit of cooperation," he said he would ask majority Democrats to seriously consider changing the sec-

Circus Boosts Fair Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Fair officials credit the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus with boosting attendance to about 65,000 ahead of last year.

"It's really drawing," one official said of the circus Tuesday. "We had a full grandstand both shows today and had people lined up who couldn't get in."

Tuesday's attendance of 212,164 topped the same day last year by 48,000 and lifted total fair attendance to 1,554,909, compared with 1,490,517 after eight days in 1976.

The circus, especially put together for the fair, continues performances twice a day through Friday and three times a day on Saturday and Sunday.

Kenneth Feld, circus coproducer and son of the owner, said he expects the show will perform at a dozen state fairs next year.

The acts appear on the race track infield, visible from grandstand seating on both the east and west sides of the track. The aerial acts, include Philippe Petit, famous for walking a wire strung between the World Trade Center towers in New York, and the Flying Wallendas.

The scope of the thrill circus has taken Ringmaster John Harriot above ground as well. He announces the acts from the roof of the portable stage in the infield.

"That's the only way I could see it all," he said. "Some people call me an aerial ringmaster."

"Six rings and up to seven aerialists will be performing at once," said the Sarasota, Fla., resident, a veteran of 20 years directing circus acts, 10 of those with Ringling.

He said its in the blood. He claims his grandfather was a cowboy with a traveling wildwest show.

Fair activities today began with the Junior Poland China judging in the Swine Arena and Open Class Shropshire judging in the Sheep Arena.

Later today, Anson Williams of Happy Days fame and the Keane Brothers will repeat their afternoon performance at 8:30 p.m. at the Grandstand.

KIWANIS TEAM — Pictured above is the 1977 Kiwanis baseball team that was honored at the Monday meeting of the Circleville Kiwanis Club. Mike Chelikowski was coach of the team. Blois Grissom addressed the team and the Kiwanis members on the values of good sportsmanship. Grissom was introduced by program chairman Sam McIlvane. Guests at the meeting were Frank Hudson, John Young, and Wes Hedges. Vice President Walter Hall reported on the Kiwanis State Convention in Cleveland.

John Leist Attends REACT Convention At Dallas

John Leist represented the Pickaway County REACT team and the Ohio REACT Council at the Second REACT International Convention, held August 11-15, 1977, at the University of Dallas, Dallas, Texas.

Leist, who serves as president of both the local team and the state council, was one of several hundred REACT members from the U.S. and Canada who participated in the five day event.

Among the speakers who addressed the convention were: Joseph O. Bernard, EMS (Emergency Medical Services) Communications Advisor to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, who spoke about the U.S. Dept. of Transportation's NEAR (National Emergency Aid Radio) program; Herbert H. Hoover III, of the Amateur Radio Relay League's S.W. Division, who talked about CB operations with Amateur Radio; Arlan VanDoorn, Deputy Chief of the F.C.C.'s Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau, who's topic was "The FCC and CB Radio." Other speakers represented the Red Cross, National Weather Service, and other key agencies.

Leist participated in several committee-workshops on the subjects of Team and Council operations, public relations, FCC cooperation, and many others. The final reports of all workshops will be published for the benefit of every REACT team.

In commenting about the convention, John stated, "The vast amount of information obtained at the convention will serve to enhance the efforts of our local REACT team. We are confident that the information gained plus the great new spirit and growth of the REACT program, will help us provide greater community service than ever before."

REACT has over 1800 teams with 200,000 active participants in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, and other countries utilizing CB radio for emergency and public service communications. REACT performs this public service as an independent, non-profit association. All the members are volunteers, giving of their time, talents, and equipment to serve their communities.

For further information on REACT and your local team (Pickaway County REACT, Inc.) contact John Leist, 8341 Old Tarlton Pike, Stoutsville, Ohio 43154 any time.

Also attending the convention from Pickaway County was Kathy Leist who also participated in most of the committee-workshops.

Toledo Schools Lack Funds To Stay Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo's 55,700 public school children will return to classes on schedule Sept. 6, but only temporarily. Five weeks later, the system will run out of money and schools will close for the rest of the calendar year.

The Board of Education, faced with a $6.7 million deficit, took the action on Tuesday. It approved Supt. Frank Dick's recommendation that the system be shut down from Oct. 13 to Jan. 3.

"I feel that this is the best decision based on my prime concern—the education of the children of the city," Dick said. "This should not come as surprise to anyone in our city. The closing of the schools was predicted." He blamed the closing on "the failure of the passage of our levies by the voters of this city."

"This financial crisis will not cure itself," Dick said. "The only cure is by the voters of the Toledo public school district."

The superintendent said the school board will review a report from a citizens committee that is evaluating the overall condition of the school system before deciding when to call for a levy.

"The decision on when we go to the voters will not be made today," Dick said Tuesday, "but go to the voters we must."

The five-member board unanimously approved Dick's recommendation, but qualified their approval by saying that the Oct. 13 closing date should remain flexible in the event that money could be obtained to delay the closing time.

Opinion had been divided as to whether the schools should start late or close early as a means of meeting the financial crisis.

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, who just completed a financial analysis of the system, said the district had to choose between starting classes 34 days later than the scheduled opening or ending them perhaps 43 days before the end of the year.

Ohio Man Sues Heinz

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Garfield Heights man, Ronald E. Kalin, 33, says a lunch he ate months ago has become a nightmare to him.

Kalin has sued the H.J. Heinz Co. for $35,000 claiming he found parts of a cooked mouse in a can of "ready to serve" Heinz soup he bought from a vending machine.

Kalin says he became so violently ill that he had to be hospitalized and his medical bills exceeded $1,000. He says he just hasn't felt like eating since then and has lost 20 pounds.

Furthermore, Kalin says, he has dreams about the incident and thinking about it even now can make him sick.

He has filed suit in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court charging the Pittsburgh company with negligence and breach of warranty.

His attorney, Richard B. Steuer, said Kalin, pale and shaken, came to his office with the can. Steuer said a lab report confirmed the contents included the head, feet and perhaps other parts of a cooked mouse.

Kalin said he had eaten about three-fourths of the soup before noticing the mouse parts and he became violently ill afterwards.

CIRCLEVILLE Municipal Court Judge O. Charles Hosterman sympathized with the Manhattan, N. Y. Judge who recently lost his judicial temperament.

After a defendant was found guilty of extortion, mugging a 93-year-old woman in a wheelchair and then selling her to ease the pain, Judge Nathan O. Cohen pronounced sentence after which he suddenly moved off the bench to kick, pommel and otherwise attack the defendant.

Judge Hosterman ran across this bit of information in the Chronical, the news letter of the Ohio Municipal Judges Assn. He says there have been times when he has felt the same way as Judge Cohen, but so far has managed to control himself.

IMMUNIZATIONS will be held this Friday at the Pickaway County Board of Health. Times are between 9 a.m. and noon and 1 to 3 p.m. The office is located at 705 S. Court St.

Ohio Man Sues Heinz

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Garfield

Heights man, Ronald E. Kalin, 33, says a lunch he ate months ago has become a nightmare to him.

Kalin has sued the H.J. Heinz Co. for $35,000 claiming he found parts of a cooked mouse in a can of "ready to serve" Heinz soup he bought from a vending machine.

Kalin says he became so violently ill that he had to be hospitalized and his medical bills exceeded $1,000. He says he just hasn't felt like eating since then and has lost 20 pounds.

Furthermore, Kalin says, he has dreams about the incident and thinking about it even now can make him sick.

He has filed suit in Cuyahoga County

Common Pleas Court charging the Pittsburgh company with negligence and breach of warranty.

His attorney, Richard B. Steuer, said

Kalin, pale and shaken, came to his office with the can. Steuer said a lab report confirmed the contents included the head, feet and perhaps other parts of a cooked mouse.

Kalin said he had eaten about three-fourths of the soup before noticing the mouse parts and he became violently ill afterwards.

Patty Hearst's Guard Writes 'My Prisoner'

NEW YORK (AP) — Patty Hearst never smiled before the cameras during her 1976 bank robbery trial because her attorney said such pictures would make the public "think she was frivolous" and look at her trial as "a lark," writes Janey Jimenez.

The former U.S. marshal who spent 350 hours with the newspaper heiress has written a book "My Prisoner," which is condensed in the September issue of Ladies Home Journal.

She wrote that "The Patty Hearst I came to know is a far cry from either the devil caricature perpetrated by the SLA or the demure angel fashioned by her lawyers."

The account also claims Miss Hearst was upset about a book written by Steve Weed, her fiancé until she was abducted by the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Weed said he told the SLA members during the abduction, "Take anything you want but leave us alone."

But Miss Hearst was quoted as saying "Weed's words were '...and leave me alone.' If you really love someone, how can you say, 'Take everything but leave me alone!'"

Time Running Out For Federal Deadbeats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Time may be running out for the deadbeats among federal agencies — the ones that have a habit of paying their bills weeks or even months late.

The administration has told agencies that contract with private businesses to turn in reports by Sept. 1 on how many are paid when due, and how many are tardy.

If past performance is any guide, a good many of them will have to confess to paying bills belatedly.

Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., who raised the issue in the first place, said

Customers Sue Cincinnati Gas And Electric Co.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Twelve customers have filed suit in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court asking that Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. be ordered to stop back billing customers for periods when they had allegedly faulty meters or received unmetered service.

The suit, filed Monday, claims that at least 3,000 electricity and gas customers are subjected to the billing program. It claims they have been billed improperly for service since July 1, 1976.

The suit says any improper metering of gas or electric services was caused by the utility's failure to repair or to install meters.

CG&E spokesman Bruce Stoecklin said the utility owns the meters and is responsible for their installation and maintenance. He said however that occasionally electricians connect the service to the customers property before a meter can be installed, or a request for a hookup is not made.

In cases of undercharges from faulty meters, he said they may not be noticed for some time until the meter reader spots the damage or other problems.

Stoecklin said the company's revenue recovery program has been intensified since July 1976. So far, the company has collected about $250,000 under the program, he said.

he may propose legislation to require that government agencies pay interest on any bills that are not paid within 30 days.

That's the way it is for the consumer who doesn't come up with the cash to pay his bills on time. But some of the government's 29 contracting agencies apparently have been making their own rules, and there hasn't been much of a businessman could do about it.

Packwood raised the possibility of a bill collecting bill after the General Accounting Office reported that late payments are a serious problem for businesses that take government contracts.

According to the GAO survey, the General Services Administration was late in paying 73 per cent of its bills, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was tardy with 68 per cent of its payments and the Department of Transportation with 64 per cent.

The National Education Association is launching a letterwriting and lobbying campaign for fulfillment of what apparently was one of President Carter's low priority campaign commitments: the creation of a new Department of Education.

Carter has had the Department of Energy added to the Cabinet roster, but there is no indication that the administration is considering another for education.

The education association is distributing a series of statements in which candidate Carter said that he favored a separate, Cabinet-level Department of Education.

There is a bill, cosponsored by half the members of the Senate, to set up such a department, but it is not likely to get anywhere unless the administration advocates the move.

Carter remains pledged to balance the federal budget by the end of his term as president, although congressional analysts question whether he can do it without sacrificing his other announced economic goals.

While he grapples with the problems of budget, inflation and unemployment, conservatives are pushing for a constitutional amendment to outlaw federal deficits.

According to the conservative newsletter Fact 19, state legislatures have adopted resolutions seeking a constitutional convention to adopt an amendment that would require a balanced federal budget.

It would take action by 34 states to call a convention, and there's no real prospect of that. So the move is really a gesture, but it does give conservatives a way to dramatize the issue.

Public Payroll Growth

How easy it is for government to continue expanding its influence over the economy is revealed in the latest public employment figures compiled by The Conference Board, a business-sponsored research organization. In the last two decades the number of individuals on local, state and federal government rolls more than doubled, from 7.4 million to 15 million.

Private employment increased during this period as well, but since 1950, the percentage of nonagricultural workers publicly employed rose from 13.3 per cent to 19.2 per cent.

This is one time the federal government has not been the leader in government expansion. More than 12 million of the 15 million public employees are on local and state rolls.

A change in this growth pattern may be underway. Starting about 1970, the rate of increase in public employment has been dropping at both the local and state levels, although the expansion continues. Employment at the federal levels has been largely stationary.

Naturally, the growth in public employment was accompanied by a similar growth in taxes. During the 10-year period ending in 1975, annual state and local tax collections combined increased from $51 billion to $141 billion. The taxpayer welcomes the lower growth rate in the sector in recent years, but the lid is not yet on the public treasuries.

For Better Or Worse

By JIM BISHOP

No marvel of the age matches television news. It is at once the best and worst. It is best because it can send to my living room an event occurring on the far side of the world. It is at its worst when it follows a superficial show business format.

Almost 30 years ago, the television stations sold the news slots to advertisers. It was up to the agencies to select such news as they thought proper to transmit, and to furnish the anchorman, sports announcer and weatherman.

The station management cared not a fig about news. It was considered to be a "public service" — good for logging when the license renewal came up. The U.S. government still owns the airways.

In recent years, TV news became important, almost vital. If it didn't pay its way, it came very close to it. TV news took hundreds of millions in advertising dollars from newspapers. Some papers died.

The network news departments became independent and arrogant. They brooked no intrusions from management, which was asked to confine itself to Lucy and Gleason and Berle and Carol Burnett and Kojak and Barella.

News developed something called integrity. It was also able to cover, live and ad infinitum, political conventions, notorious congressional hearings, and disasters. Complement those with rich natural color and the communications satellites and television becomes compelling.

The weakness was apparent when the producers decided that few, if any events, should occupy more than 45 seconds in the 24 minutes, 30 seconds of a half-hour show. This amounts to a superficial flash.

The newspapers, slower of pace but infinitely more detailed, could run a hundred stories local, national and foreign, and the reader had a choice whether to attend them or ignore them. Some TV newscasts tried a full hour approach and still could not match print journalism.

Another weakness is the proclivity of TV news to become addicted to a personality cult. Some look upon Walter Cronkite as the Font of Truth. Others are addicted to Harry Reasoner or John Chancellor. In newspapers, the story is much more important than the writer.

A few years ago, a consulting firm tried to engineer television news. In some cities it did well, persuading news departments what kind of news its audience wanted to hear, and that three stories with film background should be aired in the first two-and-a-half minutes.

The firm also favored more youthful faces, and friendlier ones. They advised a little banter between the anchorman and the weatherman. In some places, the news began to become folksy.

Some new directors declined the advice with contempt. CBS was one. In Miami, Florida, anchorman Ralph Renick refused to listen. There is a difference, Cronkite said, "when they show what the audience wants to hear, not what they need to hear."

At a CBS-TV Network Affiliates Conference, Walter Cronkite lost his temper in the presence of his own people. He spoke of "ratings":

"... but it is how we get those ratings, what we do to make us competitive, that bothers me. For just as it is no good to put out a superior product if you can't sell it, it is far worse to peddle an inferior product solely through the razzle-dazzle of a promotion campaign."

He wasn't finished. "And aren't we guilty of that when we put the emphasis in our news broadcasts on performance and performers rather than content? Isn't that really what we are looking for when we examine

Governor Rhodes Cranks Up GOP Campaign Machinery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has decided to crank up the Republican machinery for the 1978 gubernatorial campaign, even though he insists he has not made up his mind on whether to seek a fourth term.

"There'll be more of those," Rhodes said Tuesday when asked about a testimonial for him planned next month in Cleveland by black politicians.

"If I do not run, the money will be used by the Republican candidate for governor," he said of the fund raisers. "I have not made up my mind."

Rhodes, however, endorsed the House version of a bill that would allow him to choose his own running mate for lieutenant governor.

The bill is currently deadlocked in a House-Senate conference committee over the issue of how a primary should be run under Ohio's new tandem election law that requires candidates for governor and lieutenant governor to run as a team in the general election.

The Senate version of the legislation calls for an open primary with candidates for each office from both major parties running independently in the primary. The winners would then team up for the fall election, similar to the way the president and vice president are elected.

But House members, guided by Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, amended the measure to provide for a joint primary as well as a tandem general election.

Rhodes said a candidate for governor "ought to have that opportunity (to pick a running mate) in the primary." "We would be in principle for the candidate for governor selecting his own lieutenant governor," he said at the Ohio State Fair.

The governor said voters thought they were approving a joint primary when they backed the constitutional change last year. Rhodes, a Republican, has little contact with the Democratic lieutenant governor, Richard F. Celeste.

Both Rhodes and Riffe, a potential Democratic candidate for governor, would like to choose their own running mate in order to balance their ticket and appeal to the widest possible range of voters.

Celeste, who is also expected to be a candidate for the state's top office, claims he has no preference on the primary issue.

Dear Editor:

I'm writing this letter on behalf of the elderly citizens of Amanda-Clearcreek School District. As a very few people know, there will be another special election Thursday for a tax levy for more than seven mills. They just had one for more than three mills this past fall.

Not many people are aware of this election because only a small group contact only people who have children in school. I'm for good schools, but why do they need a fancy gym, carpeted class rooms, etc. The only means of support here for schools is the property owners and who are they? Mostly elderly and people on fixed incomes and farmers. Our great-grandchildren will be paying off this bill. We had our chance a few years ago to go with Logan Elm District, but what happened? All we've had is more levies every year and nothing but poor management all the way.

So I and many other citizens urge everyone to vote no Thursday.

Thank you,

"All right, men, let's take it again from the place where Tommy's dad ran out of the house."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I gave birth to a baby recently. My husband was allowed in the delivery room. It was a successful experience for everybody. Now, my 6-year-old son is scheduled to have a hernia operation. I know I can't be in the operating room, but I did request permission to be in the recovery room. This was emphatically denied me. Don't you think a parent's presence is important when a child first comes out of anesthesia?

Mrs. F. T., Del.

Dear Mrs. T.:

I thoroughly understand your motivation in wanting to be with your child in the recovery room. It would, of course, be psychologically advantageous for him. Yet, I will point out why the problems associated with this are enormous.

I will first review for you my intense interest in the psychological preparation of any child for a stay in the hospital. Twenty-five years ago, I wrote my first medical paper insisting that one parent spend the night in the same room with the child following surgery for the removal of tonsils, for hernias, for eye surgery and for similar hospital procedures.

The psychological benefits are tremendous. Children, surrounded by the security of one or both parents, have a minimum of fear and, later, do not harbor resentment for having been "abandoned" during this difficult time.

The key to sustained security lies in telling the child the total truth ahead of time about every aspect of the hospital stay. The purpose of the anesthesia, the reason for the surgery, and the post-operative discomfort.

Children, armed with the truth and the reassurance of the parent's presence, can handle the magnitude of such an experience.

It was with this in mind that I co-authored two children's story books: "A Visit to the Hospital" (Grosset & Dunlap), and a pop-up book, "Going to the Hospital" (Random House). They are intended not only as a helpful and enjoyable story book for the child, but also as a guide for parents in the preparation of their children for the total hospital experience.

It would be ideal if parents could be present in the recovery room as well as the child's hospital room. This, however, is impossible. Recovery rooms were created to handle all of the possible emergencies that might arise following surgery. All kinds of elaborate equipment and monitoring devices are kept in readiness as the patient comes out of anesthesia. Split-second timing during emergencies does not allow for the presence of untrained parents. You must understand that the recovery room is actually an extension of the operating room.

John Dean Is Fulltime Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean III, in town to promote the paperback version of "Blind Ambition," his book on Watergate, says he is a fulltime writer.

"I have to make a living, and I've chosen to want to write," said Dean, 39.

"The titillation of scandal is gone out of it, and now it seems something to take some perspective on," he said Monday of the Nixon White House affair.

Dean said his wife Maureen, also a Watergate author, has had television and movie offers but most of them were "pretty clearly an effort to exploit her."

"That's the pure commercializing in Watergate that none of us want to get involved in," he said.

A Page Of Opinion

Public Payroll Growth

How easy it is for government to continue expanding its influence over the economy is revealed in the latest public employment figures compiled by The Conference Board, a business-sponsored research organization. In the last two decades the number of individuals on local, state and federal government rolls more than doubled, from 7.4 million to 15 million.

Private employment increased during this period as well, but since 1950, the percentage of nonagricultural workers publicly employed rose from 13.3 per cent to 19.2 per cent.

This is one time the federal government has not been the leader in government expansion. More than 12 million of the 15 million public employees are on local and state rolls.

A change in this growth pattern may be underway. Starting about 1970, the rate of increase in public employment has been dropping at both the local and state levels, although the expansion continues. Employment at the federal levels has been largely stationary.

Naturally, the growth in public employment was accompanied by a similar growth in taxes. During the 10-year period ending in 1975, annual state and local tax collections combined increased from $51 billion to $141 billion. The taxpayer welcomes the lower growth rate in the sector in recent years, but the lid is not yet on the public treasuries.

For Better Or Worse

By JIM BISHOP

No marvel of the age matches television news. It is at once the best and worst. It is best because it can send to my living room an event occurring on the far side of the world. It is at its worst when it follows a superficial show business format.

Almost 30 years ago, the television stations sold the news slots to advertisers. It was up to the agencies to select such news as they thought proper to transmit, and to furnish the anchorman, sports announcer and weatherman.

The station management cared not a fig about news. It was considered to be a "public service" — good for logging when the license renewal came up. The U.S. government still owns the airways.

In recent years, TV news became important, almost vital. If it didn't pay its way, it came very close to it. TV news took hundreds of millions in advertising dollars from newspapers. Some papers died.

The network news departments became independent and arrogant. They brooked no intrusions from management, which was asked to confine itself to Lucy and Gleason and Berle and Carol Burnett and Kojak and Baretta.

News developed something called integrity. It was also able to cover, live and ad infinitum, political conventions, notorious congressional hearings, and disasters. Complement those with rich natural color and the communications satellites and television becomes compelling.

The weakness was apparent when the producers decided that few, if any events, should occupy more than 45 seconds in the 24 minutes, 30 seconds of a half-hour show. This amounts to a superficial flash.

The newspapers, slower of pace but infinitely more detailed, could run a hundred stories local, national and foreign, and the reader had a choice whether to attend them or ignore them. Some TV newscasts tried a full hour approach and still could not match print journalism.

Another weakness is the proclivity of TV news to become addicted to a personality cult. Some look upon Walter Cronkite as the Font of Truth. Others are addicted to Harry Reasoner or John Chancellor. In newspapers, the story is much more important than the writer.

A few years ago, a consulting firm tried to engineer television news. In some cities it did well, persuading news departments what kind of news its audience wanted to hear, and that three stories with film background should be aired in the first two-and-a-half minutes.

The firm also favored more youthful faces, and friendlier ones. They advised a little banter between the anchorman and the weatherman. In some places, the news began to become folksy.

Some new directors declined the advice with contempt. CBS was one. In Miami, Florida, anchorman Ralph Renick refused to listen. There is a difference, Cronkite said, "when they show what the audience wants to hear, not what they need to hear."

At a CBS-TV Network Affiliates Conference, Walter Cronkite lost his temper in the presence of his own people. He spoke of "ratings":

"... but it is how we get those ratings, what we do to make us competitive, that bothers me. For just as it is no good to put out a superior product if you can't sell it, it is far worse to peddle an inferior product solely through the razzle-dazzle of a promotion campaign."

He wasn't finished. "And aren't we guilty of that when we put the emphasis in our news broadcasts on performance and performers rather than content? Isn't that really what we are looking for when we examine

MASTER LISTON

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Liston, (Kathryn Landis), 1931 N. Court St., are the parents of a 7-pound, 1/2-ounce son born 3:40 a.m., Wednesday at Berger Hospital.

More than one third of the population of the island of Trinidad is East Indian.

traffic accident in front of 11543 Poplar Street, two injured taken to Mercy Hospital; Aug. 20, transported Roy Beatty, Columbus, to Mercy Hospital, injured in fall; transported Patty McCoy, US Route 23, to Mercy Hospital, illness.

There were no fire runs during the past week.

The Teays Valley Little League picnic will be held Aug. 25, in the Ashville Park. A carry-in dinner will be held at 6 p.m. All players in the league and their families are invited to attend. Each family attending is asked to bring a well filled basket, their table service and beverage.

For any further information you are asked to call Herb Wellington, 983-3950.

Mrs. Alice Gloyd and family would like to thank everyone for their kind thoughts, prayers, cards and visits she received during her stay at Mercy Hospital. A special thanks to the Harrison Township Emergency Squad, Dr. Warren Hoffman, Rev. John Currens, the Rev. Goldie Moore and the staff and nurses at Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Gloyd is now a patient at Crestview Manor Nursing Home I, 925 Beck's Knob Road, Room 410, Unit 4, Lancaster, Ohio, 43130.

The Ashville Kindergarten Orientation will be held Monday, Aug. 29. If you have a registered kindergarten student, please come to the Ashville Primary School Building between 8 a.m. and noon or between 6 and 9 p.m.

The teacher will meet with each parent and child for a few minutes individually. This is a fine time to get acquainted with the teacher and classroom and to answer many questions.

If you have a child who is 5 years old by Sept. 30 who is not yet registered for kindergarten, please register him now.

The Helping Hand Society of the Church of Christ in Christian Union met in the home of Edna Myers for their monthly meeting. Bernice Hicks read the 139th Psalm for the Scripture and Edna Myers led the group in prayer.

It was reported that 14 cards had been sent to the shut-ins and three new names were added.

Others enjoying the potluck were Betty Runkle, Marvene Devors, Nellie Clark and Richard Hicks.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 20 in the home of Nellie Clark.

Mrs. Gladys Rush returned home this weekend after a 30-day bus tour of the Northwestern States and Canada.

Mrs. Lottie Maupin celebrated her 82nd birthday Aug. 18 with some of her children and grandchildren. Those attending were Edna Neff, Bessie Roese, Bea and Raymond Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Young and Travis. She received many nice gifts, cards and flowers.

Earlier in the day she was visited by her grandsons, Ronnie Neff and Jerry Maupin and daughter Erin of Lebanon, Ohio.

This last week at the railroad station; Roy Mettler hauled in some dirt from where they dug up the street and Bill Myers had the gas company to haul in some more fill dirt. Bob Hines, Guy Cline, Max Marion, Warren Diehl and Glenn Cline put on the felt paper and metal drip edge. Duey Braskella and Al Cornelius took out the bay window frames.

Richard Petty, Rodger Southward, Max Marion, and both Charley Morrisons scraped paint, while Billy Gloyd, Matt Forquer and a couple other boys picked up.

Jody Hettinger, Debbie Forquer and Sandy Petty proved they could paint, by the way they could have used some help — so let's see more women this Thursday night. We all know that the pay is lousy, but it really is a lot of fun.

Smith Dodson Lumber Company finished the mill work on the batten boards and they really look nice. Armin Rayburn and his roofing crew took a roof that was slightly out of square, and full of all kinds of bumps and bulges and laid down the best looking shingle roof you'd ever want to see. They didn't waste any time putting it down either. By the way Armin supplied the nails for the roof.

We miscalculated the amount of large window glass we would need, but Warren Bastian remedied our situation — thanks.

Bring a scraper or a brush and an empty coffee can and bring a friend, this Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Richard Groff will be the guest speaker at the 9:15 a.m. Worship Service at the Village United Methodist Church this Sunday.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ashville Community Club will be held Aug. 29 at 7:30 in the Park Shelter House.

Logan Elm Garden Club Elects Officers

The Logan Elm Garden Club held its monthly meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Kingston-Whisler Road with 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Walter Parker Jr., present.

During the business meeting the trip to the Renick Flower Garden was discussed. Election of officers was held with the following being elected: Mrs. Leslie Dearth, president; Mrs. Frank Graves, vice president; Mrs. Neil Morris, secretary; Mrs. Wayne Morris, treasurer.

The chance gift was brought by Mrs. Winfred Dumm and won by Mrs. Frank Graves.

Plans were discussed for the bus trip to Gardeners Day Out on September 29.

The next scheduled meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. George Swepton, Laurelville, with Golda Byers serving as assistant hostess.

CHS Class Holds 45th Reunion

The members of the class of 1932 of Circleville High School held their 45th reunion Saturday evening at the L-K Restaurant, with 30 members of the original class of 72 in attendance.

Former teachers present included Miss Margaret Mattinson and Mrs. Johnnda Davis of Circleville and Miss Elma Rains and Mrs. Alden (Louise Kuhlman) Stilson both of Columbus.

A centerpiece of scarlet carnations, the class flower decorated the head table and potted fern, and knitted carnations and lighted candles completed the table decorations.

A memorial service for the 11 deceased members of the class was led by Mrs. Earl Milliron, 239 Ludwig Drive, assisted by Mrs. Harold Himes of New Florence, Pa., and Mrs. George Johnson, 317 E. Corwin St.

The evening's festivities were highlighted by verbal reports from the classmates present and written notes from the absentees. Mrs. Charles Walker 140 W. Mill St., and Mrs. Donald Wolf, 510 N. Pickaway St. were in charge of this presentation.

Mrs. Manley Carothers, 1020 Georgia Rd., presented prizes to the classmates with the oldest child (Mrs. Walker) and the youngest grandson (Mrs. Hy Winisky (Charlotte Steinhauer) of Cleveland Heights.

Gifts were also presented to former teachers.

Plans are already in formation for the 50th reunion of the class in 1982. Mrs. Walker, the perennial reunion chairman, again will be in charge, according to Pat Kirwin, Columbus, class president. Preparations will start a year in advance to assure a successful 50th.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gaines, 717 E. Mound St., had as their guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Francis of Seminole, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Neff and sons, of Enon, Ohio, visited with his mother, Mrs. Wendell Neff, Route 1, Saturday and Sunday.

Adams Reunion Planned

The Adams family reunion will be held beginning 12 noon August 28, at Gold Cliff Park.

Please bring a covered dish.

Cut-up, soft, pitted prunes that come in packages are a delicious addition to a stuffing for chicken, duck, turkey or goose.

Quick way to grease muffin pans: put a dot of butter or margarine in each cup and place the pan in the oven for a few seconds — just long enough to melt the butter — while the oven is preheating. Then swish the butter around each cup with a pastry brush.

CHS Class Of 1957 Holds 20 Year Class Reunion

The Circleville High School Class of 1957 held its 20th reunion at the Pickaway Country Club August 6.

A buffet dinner was served members and guests.

Bob Fraser served as master of ceremonies. He presented a gift to Dick Banks, for traveling the greatest distance. Sue Woodward Balnius received a gift for being the first grandmother.

Following dinner members danced to the music of Drexel Poling and his band.

Members of the planning committee were Bob Fraser, chairman; Jo Ann Spice Bower, class secretary; Carol Ann Johnson Bowling; Joyce Graffis Alkire, and Norton Barnes.

Those attending from Circleville were: Mr. and Mrs. Norton Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bobbitt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Payne (Beverly Brink), Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall (Ruth Ann Cassidy), Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cook (Elaine Woodward), Mr. and Mrs. Don Strawser (Jane Davis), Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alkire (Joyce Ann Graffis), Mr. and Mrs. Michael Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lemley (Judy Grooms), Mr. and Mrs. Larry Priest (Gwynne Jenkins), Mr. and Mrs. George Bowling (Carol Ann Johnson), Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin (Kay Lane), Mr. and Mrs. David I. Smith (Donna Lindsey), Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Moody (Marlene Miller), Mr. and Mrs. Loren Reed (Barbara Rhodes), Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bower (Jo Ann Spice), Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reed (Annabelle Swackhammer) and Mrs. Beverly Wolf Haeefe.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Banks, Woodside, California, Mr. and Mrs. Von Smith (Carolyn Bell), Pickerington, Ohio, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Caldwell, and Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of Lexington, Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Emerine, Louisville, Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Magill, Cincinnati, Mrs. Jay Jennings (Phyllis Peters), Mooresville, North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter, Celina, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. David Nebergall (Patsy Smith), Sandusky, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Leist (Susan Smith), Stoutsville, Mr. and Mrs. William Gillespie (Susan Stockland), Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Chales Glitt (Janice Van Hoose), Ash-ville, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Balnius (Sue Woodward), Cleveland, and Miss Rosalind Wicker, Columbus.

Couple United In August Ceremony

Announcement is being made of the 2:30 p.m., August 20 wedding of Miss Darlene Montavon of Washington Court House, to Mr. Paul L. McCain of Grove City.

The Rev. John Currans of Ashville performed the ceremony before the altar of the Grace Methodist Church, Washington Court House.

The couple are both employed at the Orient State School.

Hand In Hand CCL Holds Picnic

Twelve members of the Hand in Hand Child Conservation League of Stoutsville met with their families at Rising Park in Lancaster for a picnic.

President, Janet Abbott introduced and welcomed Mrs. Gay Sharp to the League as well as her husband Don, and their three sons to the Leagues Family.

The league accepted the resignation of the secretary and the Card and Flower Committee chairperson. Linda Sweazy was elected as secretary, and Linda Hill was appointed to the Card and Flower Committee.

For the Philanthropic project, the League voted to help Community Action of the Stoutsville area and to hold an Easter Service for a rest home.

Committee's were set up for the Bazaar to be held at the Amanda-Clearcreek Labor Day Celebration. Vice president, Renee Lones asked that each member have her crafts to her home a few days before the Bazaar.

The first regular meeting for the year 1977-1978 will be held at the home of Sheryl Pontius. This will be Guest Night with each member inviting one guest. Mrs. Pauline Savey will speak and give a demonstration on flower arranging.

Twelve members of the Hand in Hand Child Conservation League of Stoutsville met with their families at Rising Park in Lancaster for a picnic.

President, Janet Abbott introduced and welcomed Mrs. Gay Sharp to the League as well as her husband Don, and their three sons to the Leagues Family.

The league accepted the resignation of the secretary and the Card and Flower Committee chairperson. Linda Sweazy was elected as secretary, and Linda Hill was appointed to the Card and Flower Committee.

For the Philanthropic project, the League voted to help Community Action of the Stoutsville area and to hold an Easter Service for a rest home.

Committee's were set up for the Bazaar to be held at the Amanda-Clearcreek Labor Day Celebration. Vice president, Renee Lones asked that each member have her crafts to her home a few days before the Bazaar.

The first regular meeting for the year 1977-1978 will be held at the home of Sheryl Pontius. This will be Guest Night with each member inviting one guest. Mrs. Pauline Savy will speak and give a demonstration on flower arranging.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

More Births Tied For First Place

DEAR ABBY: This is for the women who's afraid her husband won't be on hand when she has her baby, because she's due Jan. 1, and her husband already has tickets for the Rose Bowl game.

I was born on New Year's Day, and I'm sure I wasn't the only baby who had to compete with the Rose Bowl game.

My mother's doctor (an avid football fan) gave her strict instructions not to come to the hospital until after the game was over! My mother, an obedient registered nurse, was used to taking orders from a doctor, so she waited until the game was over and she barely made it to the hospital in time. Those on the scene tell me that I was very nearly delivered by a neighbor lady.

Sign me . . .

NEW YEAR'S BABY (1954)

DEAR ABBY: Read on for another situation in which the doctor was a football freak:

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the expectant mother whose husband loved football reminded me of my own experience.

The day my baby was born I awakened my husband early in the morning to tell him I thought we should call my doctor. We dressed and waited for a grocery store to open because those were depression days and we had no phone. We phoned the doctor from the store, and he told us to get to the hospital fast. We had no car, so we called a cab, a terrific extravagance for a couple living on $16 a week. (Our college degree cut no ice!)

When we got to the hospital, my doctor said I would probably not deliver before evening. Around noon my doctor invited my husband to go to the football game with him, so the two of them took off.

You guessed it! At 1:20 p.m., a staff doctor I had never seen before brought my nine-pound baby boy into the world!

My "baby" will be 44 in October. He has two fine children of his own, and times have changed because HE was present when they were born.

MRS. P.H.R., CINCINNATI

DEAR ABBY: I'll put my bowling nut up against that lady's football nut any day.

When I was expecting my fourth baby, I knew from experience that the baby was on its way-but in a hurry. So I threw a few things into my overnight bag and my husband drove me to the hospital.

The doctor on duty called my doctor and said it wouldn't be long.

My husband kissed me on the forehead and ran down the hall, saying he had to bowl in a tournament that night!

I didn't whine or cuss him out because I knew the team needed him. (He was top scorer.) They won the trophy, and I finally had a baby girl after three boys!

MAGGIE

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that lady who's expecting her baby on Jan. 1 that she doesn't have to worry about competing with the Rose Bowl game in 1978.

Jan. 1 will fall on Sunday next year, so the Rose Bowl game will be played on Monday, Jan. 2.

Politicians Concerned About Pie-Throwing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of both major political parties expressed concern and disgust at the pie throwing incident involving Gov. James A. Rhodes at this year's state fair opening.

A 27-year-old Columbus man who listed the Kent State University gymnasium controversy as his motive hit the 67-year-old governor in the eye with a cream pie.

Rhodes wasn't hurt. Later in the week, an anonymous visitor to the Statehouse stuck a bumper sticker on an oil painting of the governor outside his office. It was a Kent State protest sign saying "Move the Gym", a reference to the efforts of a "May 4 Coalition" to have a gymnasium project removed from near the site where four KSU students were killed by national guardsmen in a student protest May 4, 1970.

The public works department was able to remove the bumper sticker with no apparent damage to the painting.

Both incidents stirred concerns around the capitol as to whether the governor has a adequate security protection. Rhodes says he does.

He usually has two plainclothes highway patrolmen with him in his travels and outside his office. Late last week, however, three and four officers accompanied him on various rounds at the fair.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, was among those who said he thinks the governor needs more security. "There are some sick people out there, and you don't know what they might decide to try," the speaker said.

Another Democrat, Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, also deplored the fairgrounds incident and said he has concerns about the governor's safety. To him, Orlett said, it meant that someone in the future could decide to attack the governor "with something more lethal than a pie."

Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, voiced the same concern, but added that he thinks the dissenters hurt their own cause with the pie incident.

Van Meter said that if the controversy over the gymnasium makes its way to the legislature, he will vehemently oppose use of state funds to move the gymnasium.

Since Rhodes returned as governor in 1975, after a four-year absence, he has declined to discuss his security with newsmen in detail. However, in mid-1975, he stopped a practice of announcing his itinerary a week in advance, as he had been doing.

He cited security reasons, and hinted he had received threats but wouldn't talk about it further.

Southern Clout In Washington Feeble

WASHINGTON (AP) —While Jimmy Carter, flashing his smile from the White House, fills Southern hearts with pride, organized Southern clout on Capitol Hill is probably at its feeblest in 40 years.

Ironically, Carter's election as the first post-Civil War president from the Deep South and the decline of Southern bloc power in the Congress are two aspects of the same historic evolution, the return of the South to the national political and social mainstream.

It was Southern isolation and defensiveness that built a once-effective third force in a two-party legislative branch.

As recently as five years ago, six of the 12 major committees in the House, seven of 11 in the Senate, were headed by Southerners.

But there currently is only one Southern chairman in the House, Texan George H. Mahon of the Appropriations panel, and he is retiring from Congress next year.

Next in line to head the purse strings committee is another Southerner, Jamie Whitten of Mississippi. But next in line no longer means automatic succession, and Whitten faces a fight.

The change is less dramatic in the Senate, but the trend is clear. Six of the key chairmanships still are held by Southerners. But only two of these men are under 70 and nonSoutherners are waiting in the wings.

When the great civil rights battles of the 1960's were being fought, a cohesive opposing band of about 100 Southern Democratic representatives was led by generals like Howard Smith of Virginia. He commanded as chairman of the Rules Committee, incomparably more powerful and independent then than it is now.

In the Senate, Richard B. Russell of Georgia led a force proportionately as strong.

The Southern Democratic strategists, skilled at trading votes and forming coalitions with Republicans, could not stop the march of civil rights legislation. But they succeeded in slowing it, to the frustration of Democratic presidents and even of the legendary Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Auctioneers Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auctioneers throughout the state have been honored with the proclamation by Gov. James A. Rhodes of Aug. 21-27 Auctioneer's Week.

The governor has encouraged Ohioans to observe the week by "going to a sale and joining in the fun."

In Ohio, there are 1,962 auctioneers and 195 apprentices licensed by the state Department of Commerce.

NBC Reorganizes Management

NEW YORK (AP) — With the new television season only two weeks away, NBC-TV — third in the national ratings race for the last two years — has named a new president and reorganized its top management.

Robert Mulholland was named president Monday, replacing Robert Howard, who had held the post since 1974.

It had been assumed that Howard's future would be decided by ratings for the new fall season, but Herbert Schlosser, president of the parent National Broadcasting Co. said he had decided on the move earlier this year.

"If I waited, people would relate it to how we're doing in the fourth quarter," Schlosser said. "I didn't want my decision to get mixed with the fall season."

Howard's future with the network was uncertain, and Schlosser said "we just haven't resolved that yet."

Mulholland, 43, has been with NBC for 16 years. His accomplishments with the network include instituting the nation's first two-hour local news program, on KNBC in Los Angeles. He was a producer on the "Huntley-Brinkley Report," and most recently was put in charge of coverage of the 1980 Olympics.

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 869-2462

The Rev. Linda Stafford conducted services at the Derby United Methodist Church on Sunday morning and spoke of waiting for Christ to come into your life now, and living your life as though it were your last day, so that when He comes later you will be prepared. The altar flowers were given by Carolyn Ohnewehr, and were from her own yard. They are beautiful, Carolyn. Bob Reese sang for us at services; he and his children sang for us recently too, and sing well together. They contribute much to the Church in this way.

The ladies of Derby's Blissful Morning Circle served the dinner for the Mt. Sterling Senior Citizen's group on Wednesday evening last week in Fellowship Hall, at the Derby United Methodist Church. A member, Mrs. Franklin Riddle called to say the dinner was delicious, and the hostesses most gracious.

The Derby Sisters Rebekahs Lodge 908 met on Aug. 17 in the I.O.O.F. Hall. The Sept. 7 meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. to enable members to attend the township meeting at 7:30 that night. The date for the social club meeting has been changed to Sept. 12 in the Lodge Hall, when a potluck supper will be held.

The Rawlins family of Ballah road attended the Ohio State Fair on Wednesday. Daughter Jody still must wear the cast on her broken arm for about three weeks longer. Hope she continues to improve.

Nancy Smith, Linda Ridgway, Maizie Ridgway and Marguerite Burgett spent an interesting two days in the West Virginia area. While there they visited three glass factories, Blenko, Pilgrim, and Viking II, to observe and compare the different types of glassware, and methods used to produce it.

Residents noted the death of Dr. Joseph Frasch, president of Franklin University recently. Joe, as we knew him, was athletic coach here as well as a teacher, in the thirties.

With the sick, Betty Tracy is still hospitalized but doing well; Helen Geesling underwent surgery for a badly broken arm or shoulder on Friday and hopes to come home Wednesday this week. Chaney Vance is hospitalized and scheduled for surgery for cataract removal; Ruth Ridgway still improving, and Jim Musselman recuperating and doing nicely. Remember too with cards or a visit, Herman Rowland, Florence Ball, and Bill Erb.

Reports have it that all area schools will start August 30, including kindergarten.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Caudill, and children Susan and Keith enjoyed two days vacationing at Sea World and Geauga Lake last week.

The seventh annual reunion of the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Reid W. Scott and Usher G. Scott, (parents of Mrs. Franklin T. Riddle), began arriving after noon Saturday, August sixth for a weekend of fun, food, and fellowship at the home of Franklin and Mary Riddle and their family as hosts for this "much looked forward to" occasion. When the count was taken for the evening meal, there were over fifty and by time for dessert, 62 was the number present.

Evening entertainment consisted of a "Hayride" enjoyed by all, and especially so by the younger generation. Later on after returning from the hayride, a square dance was held; also a slide presentation of many interesting places visited by family members since the 1976 reunion, plus some interesting pictures of members in past years. A wiener roast at the beautiful log fire was the last but not least, after which, more visiting with those who traveled from Middleton, Wisconsin, Amherst, New Hampshire, Rochester, Michigan, Akron, Delaware, Steubenville, Mingo Junction, Wintersville, Pickerington, Circleville, Mt. Sterling, Richmond, Grove City, Williamsport, Cadiz, and Orient, Ohio and who we do not see more than once a year.

Sunday morning, Aug. 7, after a rather stormy night with wind and some camper's tents falling down, the group gathered for a sumptuous breakfast of homemade sausage from the McConnell farm in Jefferson county, eggs and all the trimmings, they were again "favored" with a nice rain, but the fun went on just the same.

The Riddle yard, by the way, was covered with campers and tents for two days. Anyone passing by and wondering what went on, this was it. A treasure hunt, engineered by Reid Steinmetz, Jr., was very much enjoyed by everyone participating. At noon another fabulous meal was enjoyed by 67 when the count was taken. Fresh corn from the Riddle patch, plus all the goodies and delicacies contributed by all gathered there.

A surprise shower of gifts for two of our group anticipating marriage in the near future, a short business meeting, and some picture taking, before "Camp" began breaking up for the return to individual destinations, and all who attended are looking forward to the next reunion in August, 1978 - same hosts, same location.

Brownie Troops 149 an 381, Junior Girl Scouts, and some scouts from Pack 847 marched in the parade at Commercial Point a week ago, in the Harrisburg Homecoming parade last Saturday morning, spent the day at Channel 10 Studio on Friday, Aug. 12 and were guests on the Flippo show.

On Monday, they appeared on the Flippo Show at the Ohio State Fair, and am told many Derby area folks were there to cheer them on. On Aug. 26, they will meet at Deer Creek State Park for the Junior Youth Naturalist Program.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Riddle observed their 46th wedding anniversary Aug. 19 with dinner out.

Energy Savers

NEW YORK (AP) — Builders of energy-conserving homes report their houses are "selling well," according to a recent survey conducted by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Seven hundred energy-conserving home builders in 50 states were sampled and responses to a detailed questionnaire were received from 238 builders in 42 states, each of whom built an average of 37 homes a year.

Eighty-nine per cent of the respondents, whose energy-conserving homes were completed and had been on the market long enough to evaluate market acceptance, said their homes were "selling well."

The survey was initiated to determine the extent of energy-saving construction activity around the country and to compile a profile of the construction techniques and applications used by builders.

Air Pollution Linked To Diseases In Plants

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Air pollution, generally considered a health hazard to people, has now been linked to disease, damage and destruction of various plant life.

Agricultural researchers have determined that ozone, one of several forms of air pollution, caused severe injury to potatoes.

Now the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center is testing for air pollution damage to trees.

Klan Anticipates No Trouble At Labor Day Rally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ku Klux Klan leader Dale Reusch, whose anti-busing rally on the Statehouse grounds July 4 turned into a brawl, says he anticipates no trouble at another rally on Labor Day.

The Klan received permission Tuesday from state administrative services Director Richard Jackson to use the Statehouse grounds for the Sept. 5 rally.

The action reversed Jackson's earlier denial of the Klan's application because it "might cause peril to the peace and tranquility of the public."

In a two-paragraph letter to Reusch, Jackson said he had evaluated "additional information" submitted with a reapplication for use of the Statehouse grounds and reversed the earlier decision.

Reusch said Tuesday from his home in Lodi he was "well pleased with the decision of state officials." He said he could not anticipate any problems with the rally.

"It's just impossible to anticipate something that may never occur," Reusch said. "It's hard to make an estimate. It (attendance) could range from 500 on up."

Reusch said the theme of the rally would be busing and that he planned to announce formally as a Democratic candidate for governor. Reusch ran for the same office in 1974, but lacked the necessary signatures to place his name on the ballot.

Service have joined in a three-year project near Mansfield to determine what effects it has on trees.

J.R. McClenahan, assistant professor of forestry at the center, said scientists will study the response of hardwood seedlings to filtered and unfiltered air near Charles Mill Lake east of Mansfield. Open-topped chambers will be placed over some seedlings to remove pollutants from air reaching young trees. The growth rate of the protected seedlings will be compared with that of seedlings exposed to unfiltered air.

Mature stands of natural hardwoods in the area will also be tested for the effects of air pollution. Small cores will be extracted from the trees.

By counting growth rings and determining heights at different ages, McClenahan hopes to reconstruct the rates of height growth through trees' history. This will be compared with air pollution scientists believe the trees were exposed to.

Data will be taken from hardwood stands at various directions and distances from Mansfield. Soil characteristics and topographic features will also be considered.

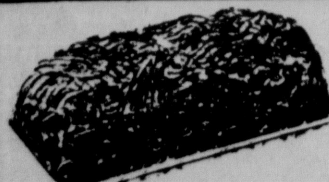

McClenahan said forest land around Mansfield was chosen because of the city's population mix, industry and tree proximity. He said air around Mansfield is no better or worse than that of most Ohio cities.

He lists ozone as the chief air pollution culprit in Ohio. It is followed closely by sulfur dioxide, hydrogen fluoride, hydrogen, chloride and hydrocarbons from vehicles exhaust emissions.

McClenahan feels the knowledge about air pollution effects on trees will be helpful when future air quality regulations are written.

Kapok, popular for stuffing furniture, was introduced by the Netherlands at the formal opening of the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago on May 1, 1893.

Natural gas was first used for illumination. In 1821, it was piped to homes and shops in Fredonia, N.Y., lighting a grand total of 30 lamps.

Energy Savers

NEW YORK (AP) — Builders of energy-conserving homes report their houses are "selling well," according to a recent survey conducted by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Seven hundred energy-conserving home builders in 50 states were sampled and responses to a detailed questionnaire were received from 238 builders in 42 states, each of whom built an average of 37 homes a year.

Eighty-nine per cent of the respondents, whose energy-conserving homes were completed and had been on the market long enough to evaluate market acceptance, said their homes were "selling well."

The survey was initiated to determine the extent of energy-saving construction activity around the country and to compile a profile of the construction techniques and applications used by builders.

Air Pollution Linked To Diseases In Plants

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Air pollution, generally considered a health hazard to people, has now been linked to disease, damage and destruction of various plant life.

Agricultural researchers have determined that ozone, one of several forms of air pollution, caused severe injury to potatoes.

Now the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center is testing for air pollution damage to trees.

Klan Anticipates No Trouble At Labor Day Rally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ku Klux Klan leader Dale Reusch, whose anti-busing rally on the Statehouse grounds July 4 turned into a brawl, says he anticipates no trouble at another rally on Labor Day.

The Klan received permission Tuesday from state administrative services Director Richard Jackson to use the Statehouse grounds for the Sept. 5 rally.

The action reversed Jackson's earlier denial of the Klan's application because it "might cause peril to the peace and tranquility of the public."

In a two-paragraph letter to Reusch, Jackson said he had evaluated "additional information" submitted with a reapplication for use of the Statehouse grounds and reversed the earlier decision.

Reusch said Tuesday from his home in Lodi he was "well pleased with the decision of state officials." He said he could not anticipate any problems with the rally.

"It's just impossible to anticipate something that may never occur," Reusch said. "It's hard to make an estimate. It (attendance) could range from 500 on up."

Reusch said the theme of the rally would be busing and that he planned to announce formally as a Democratic candidate for governor. Reusch ran for the same office in 1974, but lacked the necessary signatures to place his name on the ballot.

Service have joined in a three-year project near Mansfield to determine what effects it has on trees.

J.R. McClenahan, assistant professor of forestry at the center, said scientists will study the response of hardwood seedlings to filtered and unfiltered air near Charles Mill Lake east of Mansfield. Open-topped chambers will be placed over some seedlings to remove pollutants from air reaching young trees. The growth rate of the protected seedlings will be compared with that of seedlings exposed to unfiltered air.

Mature stands of natural hardwoods in the area will also be tested for the effects of air pollution. Small cores will be extracted from the trees.

By counting growth rings and determining heights at different ages, McClenahan hopes to reconstruct the rates of height growth through trees' history. This will be compared with air pollution scientists believe the trees were exposed to.

Data will be taken from hardwood stands at various directions and distances from Mansfield. Soil characteristics and topographic features will also be considered.

McClenahan said forest land around Mansfield was chosen because of the city's population mix, industry and tree proximity. He said air around Mansfield is no better or worse than that of most Ohio cities.

He lists ozone as the chief air pollution culprit in Ohio. It is followed closely by sulfur dioxide, hydrogen fluoride, hydrogen, chloride and hydrocarbons from vehicles exhaust emissions.

McClenahan feels the knowledge about air pollution effects on trees will be helpful when future air quality regulations are written.

State Office Building May Cost $30 Million

CLEVELAND (AP) — The $22 million state office building under construction here may cost $30 million by the time it is finished in March of 1979.

The Ohio Building Authority established a construction loan account for up to $30 million Aug. 11 with the Workman's Compensation Insurance Fund, just in case it's needed.

Dan Shields, OBA director, said the money will be drawn only as needed. In that way, he hopes to save interest by not having funds that are not being used.

"We figured the total construction would be around $22 million," Shields said of the proposed 13-story building. "But with land and interest and fees the total could go up to $30 million."

Ground was broken for the building in downtown Cleveland Feb. 1. Contractors worked this week putting caissons into the ground for the foundation.

Once the building is completed, Shields said OBA will establish a 30-year note with the insurance fund on total building costs at 8.2 per cent interest. The Ohio Department of Administrative Services will take over the building, he said, collect rent from state tenants and turn it over to OBA to pay off the debt.

He said OBA began borrowing from the insurance fund in December 1974 on an annual basis for the Cleveland facility.

"There was very little activity at first," he said. "We originally borrowed $3.5 million before we went to this construction loan process."

Shields said the current loan arrangement differs from that for the 42-story State Office Tower completed two years ago in Columbus.

"Then we borrowed money on the basis of a year's use and put it into our account and had it until we needed more," he said. "This time we put into the construction loan fund only the money that is needed."

He said terms of the loan require him to give the fund 30 days notice of needed money. The fund then transfers the amount to Union Commerce Bank, the OBA trustee, in Cleveland.

"We think we can save interest and permit the workman's compensation to use the money so long as we don't need it," Shields added. "I try to estimate construction costs over 90 days and borrow only enough to cover those costs."

Council Of Churches

Backs Segregation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Council of Churches has called for support and "responsible action" in school desegregation efforts being conducted throughout the state.

The 21 religious leaders making up the council issued a joint statement committing themselves to helping with peaceful implementation of official decisions made to desegregate schools.

They said steps should be taken to make sure that "the responsibility for desegregation does not fall disproportionately on one part of the community, but all share it equally."

Council Of Churches

Backs Segregation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Council of Churches has called for support and "responsible action" in school desegregation efforts being conducted throughout the state.

The 21 religious leaders making up the council issued a joint statement committing themselves to helping with peaceful implementation of official decisions made to desegregate schools.

They said steps should be taken to make sure that "the responsibility for desegregation does not fall disproportionately on one part of the community, but all share it equally."

Big Red Machine In Neutral

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Big Red Machine is stuck in neutral. And Manager Sparky Anderson is stuck for an answer.

"It's amazing," said Anderson, disheartened after the Reds missed another chance at cutting into the Los Angeles Dodgers' 9½-game lead.

"They are waiting and we don't make a move," he said. "If we played like we did last year or the year before, we would have won by 30 games."

But the sleek, powerful machine of past years is only a memory as the Reds stumble along a few games above .500. It was the second straight time the Reds were unable to capitalize on Dodger losses.

The Montreal Expos made it two in a row Tuesday night with a 4-2 victory as Dave Cash continued to pummel Cincinnati pitching and Steve Rogers got revenge for an All-Star snub.

"All guys have a team they hit best and Cincinnati is my team," explained Cash, who is hitting .486 against the Reds this year.

Cash, who has hit safely in all nine games with the Reds this year, rapped two hits, scored twice and drove in a run.

He has 18 hits in the nine games, including three three-hit games.

Rogers, 14-12, was supported by Gary Carter's 22nd homer of the year, a solo blast off loser Paul Moskauer, 3-4, that produced a 3-1 bulge in the fifth.

Rogers, one victory shy of his career high, enjoys pitching against the Reds.

"I'm happiest when I pitch against Sparky. I'm not mad at him, but I have something to prove." The 27-year-old righthander has not forgotten that Anderson passed him over for the All-Star Game last month.

Former Reds slugger Tony Perez got in his licks, too, against his old teammates, drilling two hits, but his fielding may have saved the night.

Manager Dick Williams credited Perez with "two great plays" for a double play in the sixth inning that allowed the Expos to snuff a potential Reds' rally.

With Ed Armbrister at third base and Pete Rose at bat, Perez fielded a grounder by Rose, threw home to catch Armbrister and took the relay back to first to double up Rose.

"It's a rare play—first to catcher to first," said Williams.

Perez said his throw home forced Rose to duck and break stride.

Moskauer was working under duress. Sleepless the past two nights while waiting for the stork to arrive, he was celebrating the arrival of a baby boy.

"He was really rocky," said Anderson. Moskauer was tagged for 10 hits in five innings, but stranded 10 runners to escape heavy damage. Twice he pitched out of bases-loaded jams.

The Expos left 16 runners on base during the night, two short of tying the National League record.

The New York Mets invade tonight for a two-game stand.

Red Hot Phillies Nip Atlanta, 3-2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

If the Philadelphia Phillies haven't lost their flair for the dramatic, they should go into a slump right about now.

It is one year to the day since the Phillies saw a whopping 15½-game lead begin to fritter away. It dwindled down to three games before they recovered and won the National League East by nine games over the Pittsburgh Pirates. And, of course, there is the team's monumental collapse down the stretch in 1964. "That doesn't even come to mind."

This is the first time anyone's ever asked me that question," Manager Danny Ozark said following the red-hot Phillies' 3-2 triumph over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday night. It was their sixth consecutive victory and 19th in 20 games and kept them 7½ games ahead of Pittsburgh ... their largest lead of the season.

Elsewhere, the Pirates edged the San Diego Padres 7-6, the San Francisco Giants nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 13 innings, the St. Louis Cardinals shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1, the Montreal Expos downed the Cincinnati Reds 4-2 and the New York Mets beat the Houston Astros 2-1.

Greg Luzinski's two-run single in the first inning and Mike Schmidt's 31st home run in the fifth paced the Phillies' triumph. Overshadowed were 13 strikeouts in eight innings by Atlanta's Phil Niekro which gave him a league-leading 204 for the season and broke his record of 195 for a Braves pitcher the team's 12-year Atlanta history.

Pirates 7, Padres 6

Al Oliver broke a tie in the bottom of the ninth with a first-pitch home run off San Diego relief ace Rolie Fingers. The Pirates, who had lost three games in a row, scored a pair of unearned runs in the eighth inning to take a 6-5 lead but San Diego's Gene Tenace tied it in the ninth with a homer.

Giants 4, Cubs 3

Tim Lincecum's run-scoring single in the 13th inning gave the Giants their first victory of the year over the Cubs after eight defeats. With one out in the 13th, Jack Clark walked and stole second and Darrell Evans also walked before Lincecum's soft single.

Cardinals 2, Dodgers 1

Bob Forsch pitched a threehitter in outdueling Don Sutton, and Lou Brock drove in the winning run with a second-inning single for his 2,800th career hit. The 38-year-old Brock, who singled and scored in the first inning, also stole the 889th base of his career, leaving him three shy of the all-time major league record set by Ty Cobb.

Expos 4, Reds 2

Dave Cash continued his season-long assault on Cincinnati with two hits, an RBI, and two runs scored. Cash doubled and scored in the first inning, reached on a fielder's choice and scored in the fourth, and drove in an insurance run with an infield hit in the ninth. Gary Carter homered for Montreal's other run.

Cash has 18 hits in 37 at-bats against the Reds this season for an average of .486.

Mets 2, Astros 1

Lenny Randle singled home Leo Foster with the winning run in the ninth inning after the Mets tied the score in the eighth on Ed Kranepool's pinch double. Houston scored in the top of the eighth on Terry Puhl's double and a single by Jose Cruz.

Cubans, Americans Battle On Cage Court

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Jim Bailey had his left arm in stitches today after being slashed by a broken bottle wielded by a Cuban opponent, and no longer will be able to help the United States basketball team in its bid for the gold medal at the World University Games.

Bailey, a 6-foot-9 starting center from Rutgers University, was the only serious casualty in the melee that erupted Tuesday night, two minutes into the second half of the hotly contested game between the Americans and Cubans.

The unbeaten United States team went on to win 94-78, for its fifth victory in the 31-nation tournament. The loss was the first for the Cubans after four victories.

Bailey was given emergency medical treatment at Sofia's University Hall Arena, then taken back to the United States team dormitory, where the two deep slashes were stitched by a team physician.

The Americans had lost the services of 6-7 forward Phil Hubbard with a wrenched knee during a 112-95 victory over the Soviet Union Monday night.

"It's (the two losses) going to hurt the offense, defense and rebounding," said U.S. Coach Denny Crum of the University of Louisville. The Americans play Brazil tonight.

"Everybody else will have to play a little harder," said Crum, who was in the center of the fight.

"Cuba's No. 12 pushed me when I was talking to the referee and I pushed him back," Crum said.

The Cubans then rushed the U.S. team bench, carrying broken bottles and attacked the American players, who fought back with punches. The melee, before a sellout crowd of 2,000, lasted several minutes before police managed to separate the players.

The fight — similar to one between American and Cuban players at the 1973 University Games in Moscow — was the turning point of the game.

The Cubans' play deteriorated after that, and the Americans raced away from a 46-46 tie, winning easily.

"I think the team that's in the right on these kinds of things comes back and plays the best," Crum said. "I don't know how the Cubans felt, but I know we didn't start that fight."

Calvin Natt, a 6-5 forward from Northeast Louisiana, led the Americans with 24 points and Darrell Griffith, a 6-3 guard from Louisville, had 21.

Meanwhile, the track and field events ended with Tom Andrews of the University of Southern California winning two gold medals in one night — one as a hurdler and one as a relay runner.

Andrews won the 400-meter hurdles in 49.52 seconds, then anchored the United States 1,600-meter relay team to victory in 3:01.2. Both times were records for these games.

That gave the United States a total of four gold medals in track and field. The Soviet Union has won nine and Bulgaria five.

The swimming and diving events were to start today.

Cards Edge Dodgers, 2-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Forsch pitched a three-hitter and Lou Brock drove in the winning run with his 2,800th career hit as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 Tuesday night.

Forsch, 16-5, outdueled Don Sutton, 11-8, who surrendered only five singles through seven innings but was victimized by an error to account for the game's first run.

The 38-year-old Brock, in addition to driving in the winning run, also stole the 889th base of his career, leaving him three shy of the all-time major league record of 892 set by Ty Cobb.

Brock opened the first inning with a single and was safe at second with one out when second baseman Teddy Martinez failed to touch the bag while pivoting on an attempted double play. Ted Simmons singled Brock home with the first of his two hits.

Los Angeles tied it 1-1 when Rick Monday walked and Vic Davalillo hammered a two-out double in the second inning.

The Cardinals got the winning run in the bottom of the second when Ken Reitz was hit by a pitch and scored on another single by Brock after Forsch sacrificed him to second.

Pitcher Jim Rooker of the Pittsburgh Pirates hit two home runs in one game in 1969 when he was with Kansas City.

Glutz Hurls One-Hitter For Twins

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

"Every pitcher with great stuff has six or seven games a year where they put on quite a show," said Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch.

Tuesday night was one of those games for Twins mound ace Dave Goltz, who hurled a one-hit, 7-0 gem against the Boston Red Sox. The triumph was Goltz' third this year against the Sox, whose fifth consecutive loss dropped them out of first place in the American League's East Division.

The only hit off Goltz, 16-7, was a single by Jim Rice in the fourth inning. Goltz struck out 10 and walked three in recording his first shutout of the season.

"Those stats sure show how well he pitched," said Boston catcher Carlton Fisk. "He's been tough on us all year. He struck out everybody in the world."

Glenn Adams had two doubles and a single and Lyman Bostock chipped in with a double and two singles to spark Minnesota's 14-hit attack. Rod Carew socked his 12th home run, extending his hitting streak to 13 games. Carew has hit in 30 of his last 32 contests.

In other American League games, New York moved into the East top spot with an 8-3 verdict over Chicago. Kansas City remained a game in front of Minnesota in the West with a 5-2 triumph over Baltimore. Milwaukee topped Texas 4-2, Detroit defeated California 5-1 and Toronto overwhelmed Oakland 8-1.

Yankees 8, White Sox 3

Mickey Rivers went 5-for-5 and drove in three runs and Graig Nettles smacked his 30th home run for three more runs as New York beat Chicago and edged past Boston in the East.

Mike Torrez, 15-10, surrendered 11 hits in throwing his 14th complete game as the Yankees took over first place for the first time since July 10.

Royals 5, Orioles 2

The red-hot Royals won their seventh straight to stay atop the West. John Mayberry's 20th homer halved a 2-0 Orioles lead in the fourth, then George Brett clouted a three-run shot for his 16th homer of the year.

Jim Colborn, 14-12, picked up the victory with last-inning relief help from Larry Gura.

Brewers 4, Rangers 2

Home runs by Sal Bando and Cecil Cooper and strong pitching by Mike Caldwell and Bill Castro led the Brewers to victory.

Caldwell, 4-6, took a five-hitter into the ninth but surrendered two hits and left in favor of Castro, who retired three straight batters to preserve the triumph.

Tigers 5, Angels 1
Bob Sykes and Steve Foucault collaborated on a fivehitter to lead the Tigers to their fifth consecutive victory, matching their longest winning streak of the year.

Ron LeFlore hit his 16th home run of the year to pace the Tigers attack.

Blue Jays 8, A's 1

Toronto rode the strong pitching of Jim Clancy and Tom Murphy to a five-hit triumph over the A's as Oakland dropped its 20th game in its last 23.

Otto Velez' bases-loaded double accounted for three of the Toronto runs in a five-run, sixth-inning rally.

Big Red Machine In Neutral

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Big Red Machine is stuck in neutral. And Manager Sparky Anderson is stuck for an answer.

"It's amazing," said Anderson, disheartened after the Reds missed another chance at cutting into the Los Angeles Dodgers' 9½-game lead.

"They are waiting and we don't make a move," he said. "If we played like we did last year or the year before, we would have won by 30 games."

But the sleek, powerful machine of past years is only a memory as the Reds stumble along a few games above .500. It was the second straight time the Reds were unable to capitalize on Dodger losses.

The Montreal Expos made it two in a row Tuesday night with a 4-2 victory as Dave Cash continued to pummel Cincinnati pitching and Steve Rogers got revenge for an All-Star snub.

"All guys have a team they hit best and Cincinnati is my team," explained Cash, who is hitting .486 against the Reds this year.

Cash, who has hit safely in all nine games with the Reds this year, rapped two hits, scored twice and drove in a run.

He has 18 hits in the nine games, including three three-hit games.

Rogers, 14-12, was supported by Gary Carter's 22nd homer of the year, a solo blast off loser Paul Moskauer, 3-4, that produced a 3-1 bulge in the fifth. Rogers, one victory shy of his career high, enjoys pitching against the Reds.

"I'm happiest when I pitch against Sparky. I'm not mad at him, but I have something to prove." The 27-year-old righthander has not forgotten that Anderson passed him over for the All-Star Game last month.

Former Reds slugger Tony Perez got in his licks, too, against his old teammates, drilling two hits, but his fielding may have saved the night.

Manager Dick Williams credited Perez with "two great plays" for a double play in the sixth inning that allowed the Expos to snuff a potential Reds' rally.

With Ed Armbrister at third base and Pete Rose at bat, Perez fielded a grounder by Rose, threw home to catch Armbrister and took the relay back to first to double up Rose.

"It's a rare play—first to catcher to first," said Williams.

Perez said his throw home forced Rose to duck and break stride.

Moskauer was working under duress. Sleepless the past two nights while waiting for the stork to arrive, he was celebrating the arrival of a baby boy.

"He was really rocky," said Anderson. Moskauer was tagged for 10 hits in five innings, but stranded 10 runners to escape heavy damage. Twice he pitched out of bases-loaded jams.

The Expos left 16 runners on base during the night, two short of tying the National League record.

The New York Mets invade tonight for a two-game stand.

Red Hot Phillies Nip Atlanta, 3-2

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

If the Philadelphia Phillies haven't lost their flair for the dramatic, they should go into a slump right about now.

It is one year to the day since the Phillies saw a whopping 15½-game lead begin to fritter away. It dwindled down to three games before they recovered and won the National League East by nine games over the Pittsburgh Pirates. And, of course, there is the team's monumental collapse down the stretch in 1964. "That doesn't even come to mind."

This is the first time anyone's ever asked me that question," Manager Danny Ozark said following the red-hot Phillies' 3-2 triumph over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday night. It was their sixth consecutive victory and 19th in 20 games and kept them 7½ games ahead of Pittsburgh ... their largest lead of the season.

Elsewhere, the Pirates edged the San Diego Padres 7-6, the San Francisco Giants nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 13 innings, the St. Louis Cardinals shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1, the Montreal Expos downed the Cincinnati Reds 4-2 and the New York Mets beat the Houston Astros 2-1.

Greg Luzinski's two-run single in the first inning and Mike Schmidt's 31st home run in the fifth paced the Phillies' triumph. Overshadowed were 13 strikeouts in eight innings by Atlanta's Phil Niekro which gave him a league-leading 204 for the season and broke his record of 195 for a Braves pitcher the team's 12-year Atlanta history.

Pirates 7, Padres 6

Al Oliver broke a tie in the bottom of the ninth with a first-pitch home run off San Diego relief ace Rolie Fingers. The Pirates, who had lost three games in a row, scored a pair of unearned runs in the eighth inning to take a 6-5 lead but San Diego's Gene Tenace tied it in the ninth with a homer.

Giants 4, Cubs 3

Tim Lincecum's run-scoring single in the 13th inning gave the Giants their first victory of the year over the Cubs after eight defeats. With one out in the 13th, Jack Clark walked and stole second and Darrell Evans also walked before Folli's soft single.

Cardinals 2, Dodgers 1

Bob Forsch pitched a threehitter in outdueling Don Sutton, and Lou Brock drove in the winning run with a second-inning single for his 2,800th career hit. The 38-year-old Brock, who singled and scored in the first inning, also stole the 889th base of his career, leaving him three shy of the all-time major league record set by Ty Cobb.

Expos 4, Reds 2

Dave Cash continued his season-long assault on Cincinnati with two hits, an RBI, and two runs scored. Cash doubled and scored in the first inning, reached on a fielder's choice and scored in the fourth, and drove in an insurance run with an infield hit in the ninth. Gary Carter homered for Montreal's 18 runs.

Mets 2, Astros 1

Lenny Randle singled home Leo Foster with the winning run in the ninth inning after the Mets tied the score in the eighth on Ed Kranepool's pinch double. Houston scored in the top of the eighth on Terry Puhl's double and a single by Jose Cruz.

Gloltz Hurls One-Hitter For Twins

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

"Every pitcher with great stuff has six or seven games a year where they put on quite a show," said Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch.

Tuesday night was one of those games for Twins mound ace Dave Goltz, who hurled a one-hit, 7-0 gem against the Boston Red Sox. The triumph was Goltz' third this year against the Sox, whose fifth consecutive loss dropped them out of first place in the American League's East Division.

The only hit off Goltz, 16-7, was a single by Jim Rice in the fourth inning. Goltz struck out 10 and walked three in recording his first shutout of the season.

"Those stats sure show how well he pitched," said Boston catcher Carlton Fisk. "He's been tough on us all year. He struck out everybody in the world."

Glenn Adams had two doubles and a single and Lyman Bostock chipped in with a double and two singles to spark Minnesota's 14-hit attack. Rod Carew socked his 12th home run, extending his hitting streak to 13 games. Carew has hit in 30 of his last 32 contests.

In other American League games, New York moved into the East top spot with an 8-3 verdict over Chicago, Kansas City remained a game in front of Minnesota in the West with a 5-2 triumph over Baltimore, Milwaukee topped Texas 4-2, Detroit defeated California 5-1 and Toronto overwhelmed Oakland 8-1.

Yankees 8, White Sox 3

Mickey Rivers went 5-for-5 and drove in three runs and Graig Nettles smacked his 30th home run for three more runs as New York beat Chicago and edged past Boston in the East.

Mike Torrez, 15-10, surrendered 11 hits in throwing his 14th complete game as the Yankees took over first place for the first time since July 10.

Royals 5, Orioles 2

The red-hot Royals won their seventh straight to stay atop the West. John Mayberry's 20th homer halved a 2-0 Orioles lead in the fourth, then George Brett clouted a three-run shot for his 16th homer of the year.

Jim Colborn, 14-12, picked up the victory with last-inning relief help from Larry Gura.

Brewers 4, Rangers 2

Home runs by Sal Bando and Cecil Cooper and strong pitching by Mike Caldwell and Bill Castro led the Brewers to victory.

Caldwell, 4-6, took a five-hitter into the ninth but surrendered two hits and left in favor of Castro, who retired three straight batters to preserve the triumph.

Tigers 5, Angels 1

Bob Sykes and Steve Foucault collaborated on a fivehitter to lead the Tigers to their fifth consecutive victory, matching their longest winning streak of the year.

Ron LeFlore hit his 16th home run of the year to pace the Tigers attack.

Blue Jays 8, A's 1

Toronto rode the strong pitching of Jim Clancy and Tom Murphy to a five-hit triumph over the A's as Oakland dropped its 20th game in its last 23.

Otto Velez' bases-loaded double accounted for three of the Toronto runs in a five-run, sixth-inning rally.

Cubans, Americans Battle On Cage Court

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Jim Bailey had his left arm in stitches today after being slashed by a broken bottle wielded by a Cuban opponent, and no longer will be able to help the United States basketball team in its bid for the gold medal at the World University Games.

Bailey, a 6-foot-9 starting center from Rutgers University, was the only serious casualty in the melee that erupted Tuesday night, two minutes into the second half of the hotly contested game between the Americans and Cubans.

The unbeaten United States team went on to win 94-78, for its fifth victory in the 31-nation tournament. The loss was the first for the Cubans after four victories.

Bailey was given emergency medical treatment at Sofia's University Hall Arena, then taken back to the United States team dormitory, where the two deep slashes were stitched by a team physician.

The Americans had lost the services of 6-7 forward Phil Hubbard with a wrenched knee during a 112-96 victory over the Soviet Union Monday night.

"It's (the two losses) going to hurt the offense, defense and rebounding," said U.S. Coach Denny Crum of the University of Louisville. The Americans play Brazil tonight.

"Everybody else will have to play a little harder," said Crum, who was in the center of the fight.

"Cuba's No. 12 pushed me when I was talking to the referee and I pushed him back," Crum said.

The Cubans then rushed the U.S. team bench, carrying broken bottles and attacked the American players, who fought back with punches. The melee, before a sellout crowd of 2,000, lasted several minutes before police managed to separate the players.

The fight — similar to one between American and Cuban players at the 1973 University Games in Moscow — was the turning point of the game.

The Cubans' play deteriorated after that, and the Americans raced away from a 46-46 tie, winning easily.

"I think the team that's in the right on these kinds of things comes back and plays the best," Crum said. "I don't know how the Cubans felt, but I know we didn't start that fight."

Calvin Natt, a 6-5 forward from Northeast Louisiana, led the Americans with 24 points and Darrell Griffith, a 6-3 guard from Louisville, had 21.

Meanwhile, the track and field events ended with Tom Andrews of the University of Southern California winning two gold medals in one night — one as a hurdler and one as a relay runner.

Andrews won the 400-meter hurdles in 49.52 seconds, then anchored the United States 1,600-meter relay team to victory in 3:01.2. Both times were records for these games.

That gave the United States a total of four gold medals in track and field. The Soviet Union has won nine and Bulgaria five.

The swimming and diving events were to start today.

Cards Edge Dodgers, 2-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Forsch pitched a three-hitter and Lou Brock drove in the winning run with his 2,800th career hit as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 Tuesday night.

Forsch, 16-5, outdueling Don Sutton, 11-4, who surrendered only five singles through seven innings but was victimized by an error to account for the game's first run.

The 38-year-old Brock, in addition to driving in the winning run, also stole the 889th base of his career, leaving him three shy of the all-time major league record of 892 set by Ty Cobb.

Brock opened the first inning with a single and was safe at second with one out when second baseman Teddy Martinez failed to touch the bag while pivoting on an attempted double play. Ted Simmons singled Brock home with the first of his two hits.

Los Angeles tied it 1-1 when Rick Monday walked and Vic Davalillo hammered a two-out double in the second inning.

The Cardinals got the winning run in the bottom of the second when Ken Reitz was hit by a pitch and scored on another single by Brock after Forsch sacrificed him to second.

Pitcher Jim Rooker of the Pittsburgh Pirates hit two home runs in one game in 1969 when he was with Kansas City.

The versatile Bill Robinson, a man of many positions, was named Pittsburgh Pirate Player of the Year in 1976 by his teammates.

Cash Continues Assault On Cincy Pitching

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dave Cash continued his season-long assault on Cincinnati pitching with two hits and an RBI and scored twice as the Montreal Expos defeated the Reds 4-2 Tuesday night.

Steve Rogers, 14-12, got the victory with relief help from Will McEnaney and Don Stanhouse while catcher Gary Carter hit his 22nd home run of the season.

For the second night in a row, the Expos prevented the Reds from gaining ground on the Los Angeles Dodgers, who again lost to St. Louis and have dropped 12 of their last 19 games. The second-place Reds remained 9½ games out in the National League West.

Cash opened the game with a double off loser Paul Moskauer, 3-4, and scored the game's first run. He reached on a fielder's choice in the fourth and eventually scored and drove in an insurance run with an infield hit in the ninth.

Carter's home run gave the Expos a 3-1 lead in the fifth. With two out in the bottom of the fifth, successive singles by Joe Morgan, Ken Griffey and George Foster pulled the Reds within 3-2.

With one out in the Montreal ninth, Larry Parrish tripled and scored on Cash's infield single. Cash has 18 hits in 37 at-bats against the Reds this season for a batting average of .486.

Battered Old Ball Joins Golf Artifacts In World Hall Of Fame

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — The honorary chairman couldn't make it in person, but he sent along a battered golf ball which will join other prominent artifacts in golf's World Hall of Fame.

"I regret I could not be there in person, but there were prior commitments," said former President Gerald R. Ford.

The ball, with which he scored a hole-in-one on the 157yard fifth hole at the Colonial Country Club in the Memphis Classic last June, was received by Don Collett, president of the Hall of Fame and presented to a gathering of movie and sports celebrities at induction ceremonies Tuesday night.

The ball, a Pro Staff No. 2, will occupy a niche not far from a pair of battered shoes and a collection of clubs once used by Dwight D. Eisenhower, the most avid of our country's many golfing presidents.

Ford led the distinguished guests who dedicated the World Golf Hall of Fame Sept. 11, 1974, opening a gleaming white structure that sits among towering pine trees in the heart of North Carolina's golfing country.

Since then, many of the game's great players and personalities, dead and living, have been enshrined. Four were added to the list for 1977— John Ball Jr., one of Britain's pioneers in the 1890s; Bobby Locke, South Africa's beknickered putting master of the 1940s and 1950s; historian Herb Graffis, and the eminent golf architect Donald Ross.

All of the honorees are identified by some piece of equipment or wearing apparel which was familiar to them when they played.

Here is one man's opinion of how golf's greats and neargreats should be identified in the museum:

Sam Snead — an empty tin can. They called him the stingiest man on the tour and said he made a million dollars and had five million buried in the backyard of his Hot Springs, Va. home.

The late Babe Didrikson Zaharias — a girdle. After winning the British women's championship, the Babe quipped to the astonished British, "I just loosened my girdle and let her rip."

Jack Nicklaus — an autographed copy of the weightwatcher's diet. It's hard to believe the amazing transition from the fat boy of the 1960s to the slim matinee idol of the 1970s.

Ben Hogan — the familiar white cap. Who can forget the chiseled features, cigarette dangling from the lips of the Texas Hawk who won four U.S. Opens?

Jimmy Demaret — a pair of rainbow-colored slacks. It was Jimmy the Dude who set the fashions for today's pro tourists.

Gary Player — a replica of a banana and raisin sundae mounted on a pair of barbells. The little South African had a fetish for strange foods and physical fitness.

Gene Sarazen — a pair of knickers. Styles changed, but Gene never abandoned the familiar plus-fours he wore for 50 years.

The late Tony Lema — a gold cigarette lighter. He was the Prince of Wages of the fairways.

Arnold Palmer — a football helmet. He tackled a golf course the way a football halfback runs for the winning touchdown.

Brooklyn Advances In Babe Ruth Tourney

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Brooklyn, N.Y. remained unbeaten with a 6-0 victory over Huntsville, Ala. Tuesday and advanced to the winners bracket finals of the Babe Ruth World Series baseball tournament.

Doug Weaving of Brooklyn hurled 5 2-3 innings of no-hit ball and wound up with a threehit shutout to lead the team to Thursday's showdown against New Orleans, La.

In losers bracket play Tuesday, Hoquiam, Wash. beat host Newark 3-2, eliminating Newark from the double elimination tournament.

Participating in the tournament are Babe Ruth all-star teams in the 13-15 age bracket from eight regions around the country.

West Virginia Ferry Is In Operation

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — West Virginia's free ferry boat service across the Ohio River finally got under way Tuesday.

The state plans to offer the service as long as the Silver Memorial Bridge, which carries U.S. 35 traffic between the two states, remains closed for repairs.

Two ferry boats will operate on a 24-hour basis between here and Kanauga, Ohio.

An inspection of the eight-year-old span several weeks ago revealed cracks in welds of the superstructure.

Leach To Carry Load For Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Coach Bo Schembechler is putting an extra burden on Rick Leach, but he thinks the Michigan quarterback can handle it this college football season.

It's not often a team loses two backs of the caliber of fullback-tailback Rob Lytle and wingback Jim Smith in one year. Schembechler says Leach must take up most of the slack for their departure. That's a big order.

Lytle rushed for 1,469 yards, a 6.6 average, and scored 16 touchdowns, not to mention being one of the best blockers on the team. Smith caught 26 passes for 714 yards (27.5 average), returned 25 punts for 313 yards, returned 15 kickoffs for 288 yards and rushed for 596 yards.

"Leach is the key," Schembechler said at the annual preseason press and photo day. "There's no question about it. He has to make up for the yardage we got from Smith and Lytle. I can't expect the other guys to make all that up."

He thinks the junior from Flint, Mich., can do it, though. "He has improved as much from his

Spinnerbait Is Most Popular For Bass

By JIM DAUBEL
For The Associated Press

From a new ideal several years ago, the spinnerbait has climbed to the top ranks of bassdom's most popular artificial lure.

Overshadowed in the process has been the plain old standby spinner, rated by many as one of the most effective all-round fishing baits ever developed.

The modern spinnerbait, in fact, is a more sophisticated refinement of the basic spinner, which consists of a metal body over a wire shaft with a hook at one end and a shiny revolving blade at the other.

Designed primarily as a largemouth bass lure, the spinnerbait usually is dressed up with an oversized blade or two, plastic or rubber skirt and a paint job, one suspects, intended to captivate more fishermen than fish.

Despite all its advantages, the spinnerbait is, by virtue of size and other features, primarily a largemouth bait in Ohio waters.

The simpler spinner, by contrast, lacks that specialization but excels in versatility. There is a spinner that will fool virtually every species of gamefish under almost any water and weather condition.

The greatest weakness of most spinners is that they are not weedless like their big league relative, the spinnerbait. But if you stay out of the weeds you'll find them deadly on smallmouth and largemouth bass, crappie, bluegill, pike, walleye, trout, muskies, white bass and virtually every other fish that chases minnows as natural forage.

Not all spinners are ideal under every condition. The most popular baits have their own strong points. You'll catch more fish if you recognize the peculiarities of each of the most popular spinners and exploit their individual advantages.

Here are a few of the best selling lures and their principal characteristics:

MEPPS: The number two and three size Mepps are among the best designed mechanical lures sold. The Mepps casts easy, the blade spins flawlessly in moderate current and the body holds secure under pressure from the largest fish.

The Mepps is a medium weight spinner. It will go deep when you want it to but must be retrieved faster than some of the lightest spinners in order to keep the blade spinning. I like the bare hooks much better than the model dressed in squirrel tail, which I think retards the lure's action.

ROOSTERTAIL: This is an ideal calm water lure. Its small barrel-shaped body can be fished extremely slow while maintaining maximum revolution of the light aluminum blade. The Roostertail is an excellent stream and panfish spinner.

C.P. SWING: This bait may be the lightest for its size of any of the most popular spinners, which makes it a top choice for stream fishing under extreme low water conditions. It also is ideal when you need good spinner action and a very slow retrieve in larger waters.

SHYSTER: If you need a heavy spinner that casts well and runs deep and fast, the Shyster is the one to try. It is well made, comes in assorted colors and holds up well under heavy use.

In 1932, Alvin Crowder of the Washington Senators worked 327 innings without making a wild pitch or hitting a batter.

A Washington Redskin draft pick, Duncan McColl of Stanford, is the son of former Chicago Bear star receiver Bill McColl.

second to third year as he did from his first to second," Schembechler said. "He's some player."

Two years ago, Leach became Michigan's first starting freshman quarterback. He was the Wolverines quarterback on their Orange Bowl team and last year quarterbacked them in their Rose Bowl loss to Southern California. Michigan wound up third in national ranking.

One national magazine has already picked Michigan to be No. 1 this year. Schembechler sloughs that off, but it's clear he knows he'll have a team likely to give him his ninth top10 squad in nine years at the Big Ten university.

"It might be presumptuous to think we're going to run over everybody and score 40 points a game," he said. "It'll be more difficult to win the Big Ten championship than before. There's a marked improvement by everybody in the league."

Seven offensive letterman and nine on defense were lost from last year's 10-2 team. There are 33 back, 18 on offense and 15 on defense. Ten starters return on offense and six on defense.

Schembechler's offensive line, he said, is his best ever. One magazine quoted a pro scout as saying, "You could start a franchise around it." As it turns out, the sports information director actually said that—although it's not far from wrong.

Center Walt Downing, guards Mark Donahue and Gerry Szara, tackles Bill Dufek and Mike Kenn comprise the awesome unit.

Tailback Harlan Huckleby and fullback Russell Davis are also being pushed by the likes of Kevin King, Ralph Clayton, Mike Davis, Lawrence Reid, Gerald Diggs, Roosevelt Smith and freshman Stanley Edwards.

Linebackers Ron Simpkins and John Anderson, plus safety Dwight Hicks, lead the defensive contingent. Schembechler usually has his defense among the nation's leaders and this year should be no exception.

Battered Old Ball Joins Golf Artifacts In World Hall Of Fame

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — The honorary chairman couldn't make it in person, but he sent along a battered golf ball which will join other prominent artifacts in golf's World Hall of Fame.

7th-Inning Break

CHICAGO (AP) — A convicted bank robber, on an escorted "field trip" to see a Chicago Cubs baseball game, asked permission to go to the washroom and still hasn't returned.

Authorities said Harold Jeffries, of Willisville, serving a 15-year term for a $33,000 bank robbery in St. Marys, Mo., in 1972, took advantage of the seventh-inning stretch Monday to walk away.

When the game ended and Jeffries hadn't returned, the two guards who were accompanying 18 federal prisoners to the ball game became suspicious, the FBI said Monday.

Jeffries was a trusty who worked with the maintenance crew at the Metropolitan Correction Center in Chicago.

While the feds lost their man, the Cubs won the game against the San Francisco Giants, 3-2.

Prisoner Gains
Freedom During
7th-Inning Break

CHICAGO (AP) — A convicted bank robber, on an escorted "field trip" to see a Chicago Cubs baseball game, asked permission to go to the washroom and still hasn't returned. Authorities said Harold Jeffries, of Willisville, serving a 15-year term for a $33,000 bank robbery in St. Marys, Mo., in 1972, took advantage of the seventh-inning stretch Monday to walk away. When the game ended and Jeffries hadn't returned, the two guards who were accompanying 18 federal prisoners to the ball game became suspicious, the FBI said Monday. Jeffries was a trustee who worked with the maintenance crew at the Metropolitan Correction Center in Chicago. While the feds lost their man, the Cubs won the game against the San Francisco Giants, 3-2.

Employee Promoted To Sales Manager

MIKE HUMPHRIES

Mike Humphries, an employee of Eshelman Red Rose Animal Feeds, has been transferred as a sales trainee of the Carnation Company Stores division.

Since May, he has been training at the Circleville office and the Red Rose Feed and Farm Supply Stores at Washington, C. H., Parkersburg, W. Va. and Vinton, Va.

Humphries will assume the responsibilities of store manager at the new Red Rose Feed and Farm Supply Store to be established at Circleville in October.

The Circleville store will make a total of four branch units established for sales and service to both the farm and urban communities with Red Rose Animal and Pet Feeds and related agricultural products.

BancOhio Ranked 36th In Nation

BancOhio Corporation, second largest commercial banking company in Ohio, became the 36th largest in the country last year, according to a recent issue of Fortune Magazine.

The ranking, based on assets of $3.6 billion last year, was exceeded in the state only by the CleveTrust Corporation, with headquarters in Cleveland.

Second quarter 1977 assets for BancOhio have increased to $3.7 billion.

The Columbus-based BancOhio Corporation, with 412 banks throughout the state, also ranked 36th of all bank holding companies in deposits.

The 220 banking offices of the BancOhio Corporation and the parent company employ 5,100 people in Ohio with 322 working at corporate headquarters in Columbus.

BancOhio-Second National Bank, with assets of $24,295,981, is the local member of the 41-bank BancOhio Corporation. President of BancOhio-Second National Bank is Earl W. Palm.

FLBA To Reduce Interest Rate

The Federal Land Bank of Louisville will reduce its interest rate from 8 1/4 per cent to 8 per cent on October 1, 1977.

The announcement was made today by W. A. Thomas, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Columbus.

In Addition to reducing the interest rate on new loans, the bank will also lower the rate to 8 per cent on all existing loans bearing a higher rate of interest.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Columbus makes long-term loans to farmers and on rural residences in Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Hocking, Perry and Pickaway Counties.

About 350 million years ago, the first amphibians developed. They were followed 50 million years later by reptiles.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Now you have a chance to display your showmanship; also your gift for being able to come up with a switch in tactics that changes the humdrum into the lively.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Do not sell the opposition short and do heed suggestions from worthwhile sources. You may experience tendencies toward restlessness now. Curb them and you can attain much.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): An encouraging period. Stress your self-confidence, powers of concentration, and be patient for those results which will come more easily if you remain unperturbed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You normally aspire to a position of leadership and inspire others with respect for your special abilities. Here is a brand new chance to put over a project in tip-top fashion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stimulating influences now foster inventiveness and creativity generally. An excellent period in which to try out new devices and methods, to capitalize on unique ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Excellent planetary influences. You will not have to strain to accomplish now. A good period for building up your potentials, reviving a project previously set aside.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your gift for capitalizing on your talents, yet keeping yourself in the background, can boost your gains many fold. This day needs vitality, good, workable ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may be going through a period of disinterest, thereby making errors through miscalculation or insufficient thought. Be careful!

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a lively outlook on life; are keen-minded, remarkably intuitive, perceptive and practical. You are more meticulous about handling details than those born under most Signs, and your integrity is outstanding. You have a great love of knowledge and never stop trying to accumulate more than you have. If you can curb a tendency to be overexacting with those under your supervision, you would make an excellent teacher, but many other fields are suited to your wealth of talents, notably: science, literature, music, the stage, medicine and the law.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A TV movie shows a mentally ill man setting fire to a building he designed. A disturbed kid sees the film, sets a fire in which he dies. Some blame the TV movie for his death.

The film's conscience-stricken writer in time decides he'll never again do a show with violence in it. Too pat an ending? Maybe. But you'll see it in "The Storyteller," a made-for-NBC movie about the controversial issue of violence in TV and its possible effect on viewers. The show will air in late November or early December.

And the writer's decision to avoid future depictions of violence "is an exact duplication of what we did some years ago," says the movie's coauthor, veteran TV scripter Richard Levinson. Levinson, who wrote "The Storyteller" with his long-time partner, William Link, said their decision came shortly after Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated in 1968.

"Before there was a hue and cry about violence on television, we made a unilateral choice," he said. "We had a gut feeling that a constant diet of violence on TV was in some unspecified way detrimental to children."

True, they created the violence-prone "Mannix" in 1967, but say they left the show just after it began. Yes, they created "Columbo" but say they deliberately took violence out of it from the start.

They were interviewed at the Century City offices of ABC, which turned down "The Storytellers" but where, ironically, the filming of the NBC show was under way this week. "We'd been debating this (the TV violence issue) within ourselves a long time," Levinson said. "We decided to write this piece about six months ago, and with a somewhat antiviolen bias."

"Midway through, the whole thing broke loose." He meant the strong, recent criticism of TV violence by the PTA, the American Medical Association and Dr. George Gerbner, communications dean of the University of Pennsylvania, among others.

He said he and Link studied that side and its demands for less violence, then that of showmakers worried that such demands, however well-intended, could lead to widespread censorship in television.

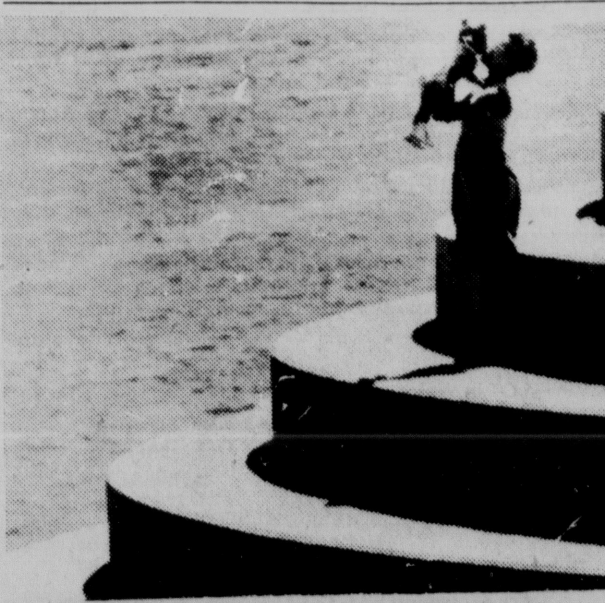

What the program tries to do, he added, is show the complexity of the entire issue of TV violence, to show there's no easy answer.

In 1974, the mother of a young girl sued NBC for $11 million. She alleged that a rape scene in "Born Innocent," a TV movie, led to a similar attack on her 11-year-old daughter.

Levinson was asked if NBC had suggested he and Link write "The Storyteller" to illustrate the problems the industry faces in the issue of violence in dramatic television programs.

"NBC had absolutely nothing to do with this," he said. "We wrote it because we're at Universal (Studios) and get paid, anyway."

"We submitted it. Their (NBC's) concern was not so much what it was about as whether it would attract an audience..."

Ford Fiesta Goes On Sale Friday

FORD FIESTA

Ford Fiesta, the most successful new car ever introduced in Europe, will go on sale Friday, Aug. 26, in the showroom of Jim Houseman Ford, Inc. 596 N. Court St., Circleville, O.

This minicar represents the most extensive new-car program in Ford Motor Company history — an $800,000,000 seven-year investment in research, design, development and new paint facilities, Jim Houseman, dealership president, said.

Discriminating car buyers already have given Fiesta an overwhelming vote of confidence in Europe where it was introduced last year, according to Mr. Houseman. Dealers there sold more than 118,000 during its first six months on the market — the highest introduction sales total for a new-car nameplate in European history.

Built to exacting standards at Ford of Germany's Saarlouis assembly plant, the front-wheel-drive Fiesta is powered by a four-speed, floor-mounted manual transmission and performance-proven 1.6-liter Kent overhead-valve engine.

The new car is expected to have an EPA rating of 38 miles per gallon for combined city and highway driving. It will be offered in a three-door hatchback with four trim levels — standard, Decor, Sport, and Ghia — and has a long list of standard features including rack-and-pinion steering, MacPherson-Strut front suspension and Michelin steel-belted radial tires.

Mr. Houseman summarized Fiesta as "a fuel-efficient automobile with a sports-car feel in a quality-built, small-car package."

Patrolman Charges Youth Following Chase

Circleville Police patrolman W. L. Pontious arrested a juvenile following a high speed chase through the east side of the city Tuesday afternoon.

According to the report, Pontious had just turned south onto Clinton St. from E. Ohio St., when he spotted a juvenile operating a motor vehicle that had recently had his driver's license suspended.

As Pontious turned the cruiser around to stop the 16 year old driver, the youth fled east on Ohio St.

The report states that Ptl. Pontious turned on the cruiser's siren and beacon lights and gave chase. He obtained a moving clock on the vehicle that was in excess of 80 miles an hour.

At the intersection of Brown St. and Lincoln Ave., the juvenile stopped his vehicle. Ptl. Pontious then arrested the youth and charged him with operating a motor vehicle with his license under suspension, and fleeing from a police officer.

Oh! Calcutta Will Not Play In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The possibility of prosecution has helped to prevent the road company of Oh! Calcutta! from appearing here later this year, according to testimony in U.S. District Court Tuesday.

Edward Marks, secretary of the Music Hall Association, said his apprehensions concerning possible prosecution were heightened after a telephone conversation on May 5 with Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr.

"He said 'you have to do what you have to do and I have to do what I have to,'" Marks recalled Leis as saying.

"He told me that if he had a complaint, he would have to take whatever action he deemed appropriate."

Arnold Morelli, attorney for Broadway Productions, argued that Leis' reputation for prosecuting obscenity cases had a "chilling effect" on production of the show here.

"Mr. Leis has developed a reputation for vigorous enforcement of obscenity laws," argued Morelli, citing the recent conviction of Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt.

Leis is named in the suit filed by Broadway Productions of Hartford, Conn., which also named the board of trustees of Cincinnati Music Hall.

The firm said the trustees refused to rent the theater unless the company agreed in advance to finance legal costs of any resulting prosecution.

Judge Timothy Hogan was asked to issue an injunction to force the hall to give the production two dates in October and to declare the show "not obscene."

A hearing on the matter was scheduled to continue today.

Dyke Spear, a partner in Broadway Productions, told the judge that his company faced a "unique and special situation" in Cincinnati. He said that the play had toured about 26 cities and nowhere else had it faced such a serious threat of prosecution.

"Frankly, it makes me tremble," Spear said of the situation he faced here.

Any attempt to impose a financial bond would place an additional burden on the company which would make it difficult to play the city, Spear said.

Leis was present, but did not testify or make any statements during Tuesday's proceedings. For about three hours, Leis along with other attorneys and the judge listened to a tape recording of the show, and followed along using a script and looking at pictures in a souvenir program.

Arthur Ney, of the prosecutor's office, objected to the method of presentation, saying that Hogan could not get an accurate picture of the production without seeing the play.

Ney also labeled as "absurd" the argument that Leis' reputation could have brought about any prosecution.

He noted that no charges had even been brought against the production and that the suit was "creating an aura of threat and intimidation."

The Music Hall acted on its own, Ney noted, and was not guided by any direct advice from the prosecutor.

3 Men Break Out Of Jail

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Police and sheriff's deputies were seeking three men who broke out of the Licking County jail early today.

Deputies said the trio broke a lock on their cell door and sawed through bars covering a second floor visitation window to freedom. Deputies said the hacksaw blades apparently were smuggled into the jail, but they did not know how.

The three men being sought by deputies, Newark police and the Highway Patrol were identified as Robert Seymour, 20; Arthur Holman, 26 and Jerry Lee Price, 27, all from the Newark area.

Deputies believed they still were in the vicinity. Holman was being held on a charge of breaking and entering. Seymour was charged with theft and Price with juvenile rape.

Deputy Finds Stolen Car

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Office made a recovery of an auto stolen from the General Electric parking lot on Tuesday morning.

According to the report, Deputy Don Hamilton was dispatched to 2235 N. Court St. at 11:48 a.m. Tuesday morning to check on a car that had been left in the driveway at that address.

The description of the car matched the one that the Circleville Police Department had given to area law enforcement agencies in connection with an auto larceny.

The city police were notified, and the car was processed and returned to its owner, Ms. Diane Wetherell of Rt. 1, Stoutsville.

50s Revived At Vets

LEATHER JACKET AND ALL — Barry Williams and Roz Kelly act out their rock n' roll parts off stage, as they dress in the 50s for a press interview. The two are starring in Kenley Player's production of "Grease" this week at Vets Memorial.

This week, the Kenley Players stage converts to the 50s, when bobbie socks, greased-back hair and leather jackets were the big things in fashion.

"Grease," stars Roz Kelly, known as Pinky Tuscadero by television and "Happy Days" fans. She continues her rock 'n roll era acting this week as leader of the girl's gang, Pink Ladies.

Also starring is Barry Williams, playing Danny Zuko. Again, television fans will remember him as the oldest son in "The Brady Bunch." Playing the leader of the "cool" gang of guys, Williams falls hopelessly in love — a couple times throughout the play.

Terri McRay, playing as a standby for the third lead role, did an excellent job filling in. She played Sandy Dumbrowski (better known as Sandra Dee) in the place of ailing actress Marilyn Michaels. As the new girl in the high school, she manages to steal the heart of the cool Danny Zuko.

Yes, "Grease" involves several of the trials and tribulations of growing up in the 50s, which could really apply to any time period. Songs such as "Freddie, My Love," "Shakin' at the High School Hop," "It's raining at Prom Night," "Beauty School Dropout" and "Alone at a Drive-In Movie" set the pace for the types of problems that arise during the play.

"Grease" plays through Sunday at Veterans Memorial. During the week, show time is 8:30 p.m. with Saturday and Sunday matinees. Sunday evening performance begins at 7:30 p.m.

Intangible Taxes Are Distributed

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today the distribution of $107,112,892.45 in 1977 intangible taxes on financial institutions and securities dealers to Ohio's 88 counties.

The distribution ranged from $46,186.12 for Monroe county to $24,216,307.61 for Cuyahoga County. Pickaway County received $251,393.

The counties distribute this money, on a priority basis, to political subdivisions within them; with the townships receiving no less than 10 per cent of the total county distribution, Ferguson said.

The intangible tax amounts to three mills per dollar on the value of shares of, the amount of capital employed by and the interest earned on capital employed by financial institutions. The tax is six mills per dollar on the value of shares of the amount of capital employed by securities dealers.

Two mills of the financial institutions tax and five mills of the securities dealers tax are returned to the counties on the basis of number, capital and investments of financial institutions and securities dealers located in a particular county. The remainder of the tax goes into the state's general fund, which this distribution was $5,489,810.09 of the $112,612,702.54 total collected to date.

Leis is named in the suit filed by Broadway Productions of Hartford, Conn., which also named the board of trustees of Cincinnati Music Hall.

The firm said the trustees refused to rent the theater unless the company agreed in advance to finance legal costs of any resulting prosecution.

Judge Timothy Hogan was asked to issue an injunction to force the hall to give the production two dates in October and to declare the show "not obscene."

A hearing on the matter was scheduled to continue today.

Dyke Spear, a partner in Broadway Productions, told the judge that his company faced a "unique and special situation" in Cincinnati. He said that the play had toured about 26 cities and nowhere else had it faced such a serious threat of prosecution.

"Frankly, it makes me tremble," Spear said of the situation he faced here.

Any attempt to impose a financial bond would place an additional burden on the company which would make it difficult to play the city, Spear said.

Leis was present, but did not testify or make any statements during Tuesday's proceedings. For about three hours, Leis along with other attorneys and the judge listened to a tape recording of the show, and followed along using a script and looking at pictures in a souvenir program.

Arthur Ney, of the prosecutor's office, objected to the method of presentation, saying that Hogan could not get an accurate picture of the production without seeing the play.

Ney also labeled as "absurd" the argument that Leis' reputation could have brought about any prosecution.

He noted that no charges had even been brought against the production and that the suit was "creating an aura of threat and intimidation."

The Music Hall acted on its own, Ney noted, and was not guided by any direct advice from the prosecutor.

3 Men Break Out Of Jail

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Police and sheriff's deputies were seeking three men who broke out of the Licking County jail early today.

Deputies said the trio broke a lock on their cell door and sawed through bars covering a second floor visitation window to freedom. Deputies said the hacksaw blades apparently were smuggled into the jail, but they did not know how.

The three men being sought by deputies, Newark police and the Highway Patrol were identified as Robert Seymour, 20; Arthur Holman, 26 and Jerry Lee Price, 27, all from the Newark area.

Deputies believed they still were in the vicinity. Holman was being held on a charge of breaking and entering. Seymour was charged with theft and Price with juvenile rape.

The take-it-easy latex house paint saves time...saves money

You get the job done in a breeze with Dean & Barry Velv-Ease. Brushing action is fast and easy. Painting tools and hands are easy to clean in warm soapy water. 5 economical gallons easily "one coats" the average 6 room home.

Too, Velv-Ease latex is as easy on the eye as it is to apply. It dries velvet smooth, velvet flat. Velv-Ease white is whiter. Any of its 1056 colors are much brighter. And Velv-Ease latex stays on where other paints come off. It gives the best protection yet against costly moisture peel.

And for something extra special...Velv-Ease is made with Tempflex* to defend against "flex cracks" caused by extreme heat and cold.

Dean & Barry wants you to have a house paint job that will stay beautifully attractive for years. And you will... if you will see us or your painter/contractor soon.
